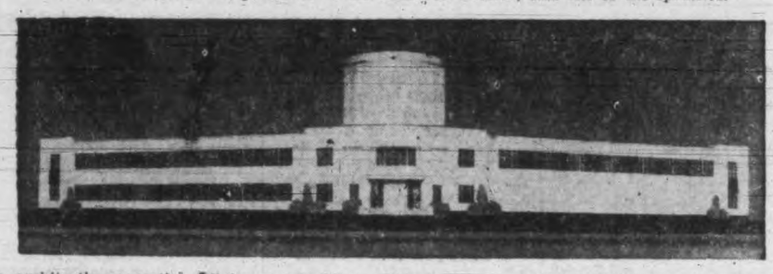
For Air Supremacy

Senator W. D. Euler lays the corner-stone of the $250,000 Aerodynamics Building at Ottawa, which will be completed this fall. Credit for the erection of the building should be given to Lieut.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, president of the Research Council, said one of the speakers.



An architect's conception of the new building. This is only one of six buildings to be erected on the same site this year.

British Bomb Krupp Works; Hamburg 'Almost in Ruins'

LONDON (AP) — The great Krupp munitions works at Essen, supply depots and airdromes in northwest Germany and four synthetic oil plants were attacked by British bombers, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

The ministry said considerable damage was inflicted on the oil targets and that airdromes in Holland also were raided in daylight attacks yesterday.

The report of these crippling blows on vital German centres came today as give-and-take air warfare surged over the English Channel.

British fliers, raining tons of steel and explosives on more than 100 German cities and towns, an authoritative source said, have laid the port of Hamburg almost entirely in ruins and have scored heavily on the docks and airplane factories of Bremen and the communications nerve centre at Cologne in the past three months.

German Bomber Shot Down in Sea

One German bomber was believed by observers to have been brought down in the sea off the northeast coast of Scotland after a Nazi squadron had dumped nine high explosive and 40 incendiary bombs—mostly on a golf course outside of town — this morning

Eyewitnesses said they saw the plane fall into the water after British fighter planes had splattered it with tracer bullets. No casualties were reported from the German attack although the bombs blasted craters 40 feet wide and 20 feet deep.

An Admiralty statement today said:

"During operations over the Norwegian coast yesterday Skua aircraft (dive bombers) of the fleet air arm successfully bombed a wireless station and attacked an enemy supply ship of about 4,000 tons.

"When last seen this ship was listing heavily and was being abandoned by her crew.

"Our aircraft returned safely."

The Air Ministry said a successful daylight raid had been made also yesterday on the German-held airport at Cherbourg, France. Three of a strong force of coastal command bombers failed to return.

Bombing raids continued last night. German fliers dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs in northern England and northeast Scotland and later in Wales, eastern Scotland and eastern England.

"Damage was slight and casualties few," the government announced.

Hitler Tries Leaflet Raid

German airplanes, staging the first leaflet raid on Britain since the outbreak of war, showered a south coast port and a village in the southwest area with four-page tabloid newspaper style pamphlets containing extracts of Hitler's Reichstag speech of July 19.

Hitler then offered Britain a "last chance" to seek peace on German terms or have her empire destroyed.

British spokesmen promptly and firmly rejected the appeal. Two weeks of daily air raids—but nothing more—have passed.

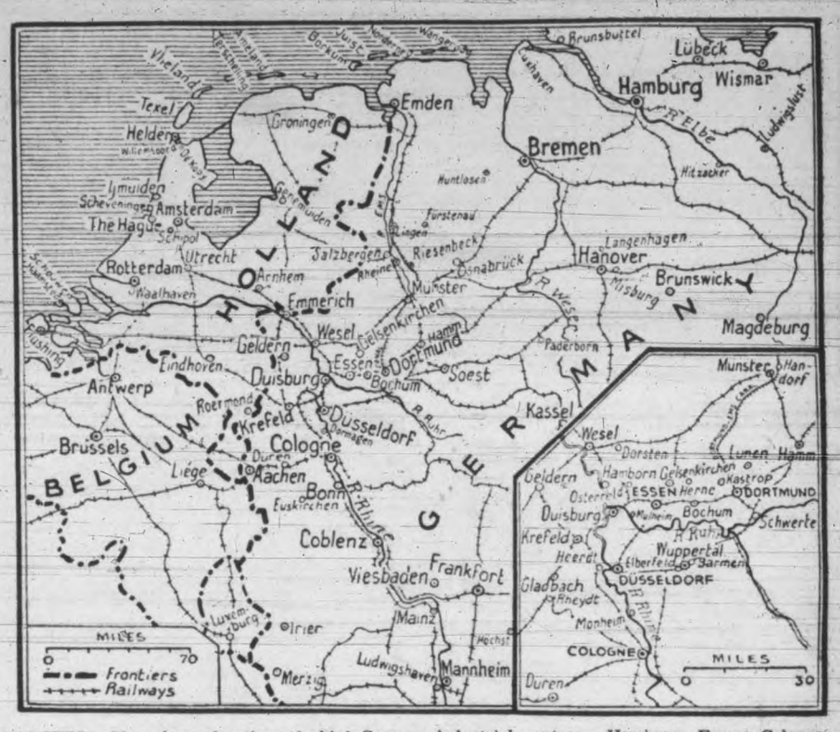
At the time Hitler's speech was made the British press and radio both carried it fully. Several newspapers carried the text. The radio carried the official English translation from Berlin.

Despite this, the Nazi radio propagandist "Lord Haw-Haw" stated in his broadcast to the British on the day of the speech that it had been "denied publication" in Britain.

The British Broadcasting Corporation in announcing the leaflet raids today commented "it is hard to understand" the German claim the speech was not published in this country.

Morning newspapers made over their late editions to tell about the leaflet raids.

Whether Germany chooses the fast war of blitzkrieg or a slow war of attrition, British leaders declared today, the nation is ready.



TARGETS — Map shows location of chief German industrial centres — Hamburg, Essen, Cologne, Bremen—which British planes have blasted with tons of high explosives in a series of daring raids.

Anti-plane Guns Fire in Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The Daily German press conference for foreign journalists was interrupted dramatically today by the booming of anti-aircraft guns directly overhead, apparently from the roof of the foreign office.

The firing lasted probably less than a minute. No one left the building.

Janitors and minor officials said the Wilhelmstrasse was cleared immediately, with everyone running for cover, and that the guns had been trained on an unidentified plane.

This plane, it was later reported, flew over the city at a height of about 5,000 feet and the Nazis claimed it was a German plane which had strayed from the course prescribed for flying over Berlin.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

'LAST APPEAL'

Britons studied tide charts today for a possible clue to the time of Hitler's threatened blitzkrieg and were astonished to find they had been subjected to a heavy leaflet raid from the air, first German venture of its kind since the war started.

Authorities were puzzled to find a reason for the raid which plastered the countryside with tabloid-size, four-page copies of Hitler's "last appeal to reason."

The leaflets suggested the British public had had no opportunity to study this message which threatened the United Kingdom with destruction if it did not meet Nazi demands. Actually the full text of Hitler's remarks was published by a number of newspapers, summarized reports received banner headlines and the British Broadcasting Corporation carried long extracts from it.

SOUVENIR VALUE

Police gathered the leaflets and destroyed them, although one officer said he regretted not to have kept some to sell as souvenirs, maintaining he could have obtained a shilling apiece for them.

BY THE ALMANACS

Britons were skeptical of German and Italian announcements that the blitzkrieg had been abandoned for a war of attrition and pointed to almanacs which indicated next Monday or Friday mornings a favorable time for an invasion attempt, because tides will be high then.

Observers based their calculations on the belief the invasion would be attempted in flat bottomed boats from which mechanized transport and tanks could be landed.

Fog in the channel would be desirable for concealment and calm weather almost essential if men were to reach shore without being weakened by sea-sickness.

PULVERIZED

While experts and the public speculated on such possibilities authorities disclosed that the Royal Air Force had practically pulverized the great German port of Hamburg and rendered numerous other German cities practically untenable. In more than 1,000 day and night bombing raids in the last three months R.A.F. fliers have attacked more than 100 German cities and towns of military importance, inflicting heavy damage.

The R.A.F. appears to have paid particular attention to Hamburg and Bremen.

While results of this intense air activity were disclosed the Royal Air Force struck heavy blows at Italian military objectives in Africa. A big ammunition dump near Bardia, Libya, was exploded while other, less spectacular, raids were carried out.

In contrast German raids on Britain for the third consecutive day remained comparatively light, perhaps because last week-end when they staged really heavy ones the Germans took an unmerciful pasting from fighter planes and anti-aircraft guns.

Final Bulletins

Esquimalt Contracts

OTTAWA (CP)—Contract awards announced today by the Public Works Department:

Esquimalt, B.C.—Dredging, North Western Dredging Co. Ltd., Vancouver, about $9,115; alterations and additions to receiving store building No. 109 at H.M.C. Dockyard, Smith Bros. & Wilson Ltd., Vancouver, $63,700.

Windsors to Bermuda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic circles heard today that the Duke of Windsor, en route to this hemisphere aboard the American liner Excalibur, definitely would not come to the United States but would disembark at Bermuda.

Hitler Aids Red Cross

LONDON (AP)—Souvenir collectors are paying 6d (about 10c) apiece for Adolf Hitler's leaflets dropped in southwestern England last night. The proceeds will be donated to the Red Cross.

The leaflets measure 12 x 8 inches and bear the caption "A Last Appeal to Reason by Adolf Hitler."

Breadner Promoted

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Commodore L. S. Breadner, chief of air staff, has been promoted to the rank of air vice-marshal, Air Minister Power announced this afternoon.

Air Commodore E. W. Stedman, member of the air council for engineering and supply, has been promoted to temporary air vice-marshal.

Greene Flies Back

SEATTLE (AP) — Richard Greene, young British-born motion picture actor who flew up to British Columbia to enlist with the Canadian army the other day, flew back to Hollywood today—still not a soldier, after a visit to Victoria.

"They told me to go back to Hollywood and wait for an opening, and that they would wire me later," Greene told reporters at the airport before he boarded a southbound United Airlines mainliner. "I left an application for a commission in the Seaforths."

80 Children Arrive

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT (CP)—About 80 children, the first group to leave England under the British government's children's overseas evacuation plan, arrived here today.

A group of 28 are going to homes in Nova Scotia, 16 to New Brunswick, six to Quebec and the others to western destinations. They are all from grant-aided schools in vulnerable towns of England.

N.U.P. Members Held

MONTREAL (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced this afternoon four unnamed members of the outlawed National Unity Party, Fascist organization in eastern Canada, had been arrested at Ste. Agathe des Monts, 60 miles north of here in the Laurentian Mountains.

Friction Foreseen

TOKYO (AP)—Friction may develop between the United States and Japan over the rich rubber resources of the Dutch East Indies, General Kuniaki Koiso, who is expected to head a Japanese mission to the Indies shortly, told Japanese reporters today.

Koiso, until recently overseas minister, former garrison commander in Korea and a powerful exponent of Japanese expansion, has been asked by the government to undertake the mission to the Dutch islands.

Dr. Cowan to U.B.C.

Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, assistant director of the provincial museum here, will become assistant professor of zoology at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, when the autumn term opens, it was announced today from the school.

Spark From Wrench Caused Big Fire

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—A spark from a repairman's wrench was blamed today for the disastrous series of explosions and fire which killed at least four persons and destroyed a four-block area of mid-town Camden.

Fire Chief John H. Lennox said the spark apparently ignited a tank of naphtha in the R. M. Hollingshead Paint Company's plant.

Meanwhile, in a night-long search for five missing persons, two bodies were taken from the twisted wreckage, bringing the total recovered to four. Clearing the way for the searchers, dynamite yesterday levelled tottering factory walls.

Largest Canadian Contingent Reaches Britain Under Odlum

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Ralston announced in the House of Commons this afternoon the safe arrival in the United Kingdom of another large contingent of the Canadian Active Service Force. He said this included part of the 2nd Division under Major General Victor W. Odlum, and certain ancillary units.

The minister interrupted debate on a government measure in committee to make the brief announcement, which he said he was sure would be gratifying to all members. The House received the announcement with applause.

C.A.S.F. Men Eager To Take Offensive

By SAM ROBERTSON

A NORTHERN BRITISH PORT (CP)—As he led ashore the strongest formation of the Canadian Active Service Force to cross the Atlantic to date, Maj.-Gen. Victor W. Odlum, general officer commanding the Canadian 2nd Division, said that until the war is carried into Germany "we cannot feel that we have done our duty."

The words underscored those spoken a few days ago by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., when he told the men of the 1st Division that "once we have driven the enemy from England we will chase him and defeat him on his own soil."

Gen. Odlum's promise for the future was made in the following statement to the press:

"We have come over to take our place beside the 1st Division, from which we expect to learn a great deal. In due course we shall join in it in forming the Canadian Corps, and we hope with the 1st Division to build up a corps spirit which will be equal to that of the Old Canadian Corps of the last war.

Friendly Rivalry Between Divisions

"We are delighted to be here to share with the people of Britain the dangers that face them. We know the road is rough, but we are ready to take it.

"We are looking forward eagerly to the time when the British people will be ready to resume the offensive on the Continent and carry the war into Germany . . . Germany has asked for it and she will have to take it.

"It is impossible to speak too highly of the naval arrangements made for the trip Because of them there was never a minute of concern or anxiety."

Port Heard Cheers As Troops Sailed

By E. L. WILLIAMS

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT (CP) — The fifth major contingent of Canadian troops to leave this port—their safe arrival in the United Kingdom was announced today—sailed on great, grey transports just before the twilight of a dull July day.

Like those who had gone before, their departure was witnessed by only a handful of officials, soldiers and longshoremen, but their cheers told an expectant city they were on their way. They were drawn from every Canadian province.

The night before they sailed they were joined by Major-Gen. Victor W. Odlum, commander of the 2nd Division, Canadian Active Service Force, and his staff. With him was Defence Minister Ralston, who flew from Ottawa for the embarkation and visited each ship. Gen. Odlum sailed with the troops, while Col. Ralston returned to his desk at Ottawa.

Morale High States Minister

"The men are in splendid spirits," the minister said after coming ashore. "I'm very much impressed by them and by the accommodation for all ranks and the way the commanding officers have their men's welfare at heart."

Armed guards patrolled every pier entrance, the roads and the pier sheds. Only longshoremen working the vessels in the area, railway or steamship officials and others with definite business were allowed in. Only one newspaperman had a pass.

Some units that embarked were from the 2nd Division, but the majority were reinforcements and details for the 1st Division. Aboard one ship were several companies of Imperials, returning to England after escorting German prisoners and internees to Canada.

Trains Arrived Day After Day

For days troop train after troop train had arrived at the pier sheds, and discharged its complement of happy-go-lucky soldiers who marched aboard ship with little loss of time.

The chalked comment on the railway cars themselves indicated the men's spirits. They ran all the way from "On to Berlin" and "Hell, Hitler—Hell," to "There'll Always Be An England," and even verses from O Canada.

It was more than a week from the arrival of the first train until tugs pulled the first liner away from her berth. During that time the men were taken on route marches around the city, and turned out for squad drill in the sheds during the day. At night their sing-songs rolled out over the southern end of the city.

Cheers and Songs Heard From Afar

When their hour of departure came, they made it probably more tumultuous than any of the other sailings. They cheered the big battleship that pulled away from the dock to lead the convoy.

They cheered each liner as she was pulled out into the stream, and cheered the handful of privileged spectators on the pier side. In between they sang "Roll Out the Barrel," "There'll Always Be An England," O Canada and "Tipperary." The volume was tremendous.

The men were still singing when the ships were far down the harbor. Some had climbed up into the rigging and the crow's nests. One group even lined the top of a funnel, although no one knew how they got there.

Hunt Follows Shanghai Slaying

SHANGHAI (AP)—The Shanghai consular body urged the Shanghai Municipal Council today to "eradicate and suppress all forms of terrorism" in the city where an assassination, an attempted slaying and a kidnapping occurred earlier in the day.

In a lengthly meeting the consular officials called for complete co-operation between the police of the International Settlement and the foreign defence forces, of which a regiment of the United States marines is a part.

The meeting of the consular body followed the slaying by a gunman of Charles Metzler, head of the White Russian community. The slaying was done within the American defence section.

Recently Metzler had resisted attempts to reorganize the Russian emigrants' committee, which he headed, into a pro-Japanese body.

Nazis Close Border

GENEVA (AP)—The German army of occupation in France has ordered closing of the Swiss-French border from Geneva to Basel, effective Aug. 4.

Some observers view this as an indication the Germans are sealing all possible channels through which news of military movements might reach the outside world.

Sgt.-Maj. Rex Carey Lands With Troops

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT (CP) — Practically every ship in the convoy of Canadian troops, whose safe arrival in the United Kingdom was announced today, had its quota of notables in the ranks.

In one unit was Pte. David Croll, mayor of Windsor, Ont., and one-time member of the Ontario cabinet. In another was Sgt.-Major Rex Carey of Victoria, a member of the Canadian boxing team in the British Empire Games in Australia in 1938 and runner-up for the Empire light-heavyweight title.

Then there was Pte. Marcel Rene de Romanette of Winnipeg, who wore two and a half rows of decorations, including a Rumanian one. He had had three rows, but when Italy entered the war he took off two Italian ribbons.

5 Weddings a Day

Strange as it may seem, cupid and mars form one of the most effective combinations in the world.

Vital statistics branch reported today 160 marriages registered in the Victoria area during July, compared with a customary monthly average of about 50. This is an average of more than five a day.

Records for the whole province are not yet complete, but in June a new all-time record of 894 weddings was recorded.

30 New Army Centres

OTTAWA (CP)—Thirty training centres will be established across the Dominion to provide compulsory military training for 29,750 Canadians during every 30-day period, it was announced today by the Defence Department.

Trainees will be enrolled in 119 companies and training will take place in all the 11 military districts.

10 Japanese Drowned

TOKYO (AP) — Ten persons were drowned, two small shipbuilding yards were destroyed and hundreds of fishing boats washed away today when a tidal wave following an earthquake swept the western coast of Hokkaido, northern island of Japan.

$2,000,000 Vote For Machinery Of Job Insurance

OTTAWA (CP) — Supplementary estimates totaling $3,197,488 were tabled in the House of Commons this afternoon by Finance Minister Ilsley. Passage of the unemployment insurance bill accounts for most of the money required, as an appropriation of $2,000,000 is provided to meet administration costs up to March 31, 1941, the end of the fiscal year.

The estimates propose an annuity of $2,500 a year for Mrs. Norman Rogers, widow of the minister of national defence who was killed in an airplane crash in June.

Increases in the income tax and the application of the national defence tax call for additional appropriations for the income tax branch. Larger staffs will be required to handle the greatly increased number of individual taxpayers.

For general idministration an additional $75,195 is provided and for district income tax offices the additional appropriation is $301,350.

The only other large item is one of $338,436 for the public works department on account of Dominion contributions to the joint dominion-provincial scheme of water conservation and improvement on the Grand River in Ontario. The contribution is for works necessary to safeguard the "very large investment already made."

Father and Son Sent to Jail

Two members of a Ukranian family are under sentence and one is held in custody by B.C. Police at Courtenay under the Defence of Canada Regulations.

William Hurchuk was sentenced to six months imprisonment for distributing a pamphlet likely to prejudice the Canadian war effort and a son was sent to the Boys' Industrial School on the same charge.

Another son, William, was taken in custody outside Courtenay police station for allegedly making derogatory remarks in respect of witnesses taking part in the trial.

Canada Makes Big Sale

100,000,000 Bushels Of Wheat to Britain

LONDON (CP)—An official announcement issued today said: "The Ministry of Food has entered into an agreement with the Canadian Wheat Board to purchase during this cereal year, July 31, 1940, to August 1, 1941, a further 100,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat."

"This is the largest purchase ever reported" (in any country), the statement added.

The purchase was said to represent a big proportion of a year's wheat consumption here.

It indicates Canada is regarded as Britain's No. 1 granary. It is understood the ministry has arranged for some wheat from Australia although it is not like Canada's famous hard kind.

House Told Price Above Market Level

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon this afternoon confirmed London reports of the sale of 100,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to the British Food Ministry. The minister said the price was "considerably above the market level."

The minister said he would make a formal statement on the deal to the House of Commons later in the day.

This transaction, the largest in wheat history, was made directly between the Canadian Wheat Board and the British cereal authority. It was the second deal made in this way, the first being the sale of 50,000,000 bushels to the United Kingdom announced last June. Other British purchases since the war started have been made through the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

While it is unlikely the price involved in the present deal will be revealed, following the policy in earlier transactions, the present purchase is understood to be entirely futures. Ownership of the wheat passes to the British authority and delivery can be taken roughly, when it suits British shipping convenience.

There will be no difficulty in providing delivery whenever required. At the moment the visible supply of wheat in Canada, in store, is slightly above 270,000,000 bushels. Of the total, the British government is understood to own already somewhere between 50,000,000 and 70,000,000. Only the British government knows exactly.

Most of the remainder of the 270,000,000 is for sale, and that figure will swell steadily in coming weeks as the 1940 crop begins to move.

The new Canadian crop is reported to be substantially in excess of 400,000,000 bushels, the average crop over the years being around 375,000,000 bushels. Highest production was 566,000,000 bushels in 1928 and lowest in 1937, when only 180,000,000 bushels of wheat were produced.

Almanacs List Hitler's Chances

By EDWIN STOUT

LONDON (AP)—The almanacs say that if Adolf Hitler is going to start his blitzkrieg on England this month the best times for it will be next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings.

If Hitler passes up those days, the next best come in September, from the second to the seventh. Third choice would be October 1 to 6, then October 30 to November 4.

All of those periods are when the tides will be the highest.

The British are inclined to believe that, if the Germans don't make the stab by mid-September, no invasion will be attempted until next spring. Ordinary prudence on the part of the Nazi general staff, these observers say, will demand that at least six weeks be allowed for the campaign.

They point out Hitler can't count on good weather for operations of his air force once the equinoctial storms begin in mid-September. From then on, Britain is cloaked in fogs and mists so thick even the natives can't find their way around—and the Germans would be bound to get lost.

Neutral military men, picturing the Nazi attack as they might run it, say it should have these conditions:

1. A calm sea—to keep the German soldiers from getting seasick on the way across the North Sea and English Channel.

2. High tide—essential in order that the flat-bottomed barges of the first landing force can be driven high enough on the beaches for tanks to be run off onto the sand in water not too deep to put them out of commission.

3. Fog in the English Channel—to screen the expedition on its way over. Sometimes the centre of the Channel is foggy when it is clear on both sides.

These experts say preliminary air bombardment and landings on the beaches all would be preparatory to the first major objective in any campaign to invade this country—seizure of a port. Once a port had been obtained, they explain the Germans could try to supply the landing force by deep-water freighters convoyed by airplane and submarine and possibly run in through lanes of mines as a further safeguard.

However, the British would not be just sitting around while all this was going on.

They point out Hitler's expedition would be vulnerable as soon as it got into its ships and would remain that way on the trip across and during the attempted landing.

MOSCOW (AP)—A dispatch by Tass, Soviet news agency, today claimed Finnish police in Helsiniki had clubbed workers who were attempting to attend a meeting of the "Society of Friendship and Peace with the U.S.S.R." Similar clashes occured in other Finnish cities, the dispatch alleged.

R.A.F. Scores In Africa Raids

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A British communique today said:

"A highly successful raid was carried out by bombing aircraft of the Royal Air Force on a large ammunition dump near Bardia, eastern Libya port, yesterday.

"The noise and shock of the explosion were felt 9,000 feet up. Flames rose 500 feet and smoke 7,000. Flames and columns of smoke still were visible when our aircraft were 40 miles away on the homeward journey. We suffered no casualties.

"An enemy raid on Port Sudan, by Italian bombers of S79 type, was unsuccessful.

"Our fighters encountered a Caproni bomber, CA133 type, over the Ethiopian border. After a short engagement the bomber was shot down.

"A small formation attacked the Accicol oil refinery near Massawa. Direct hits were registered. As a result a petrol fire was started and smoke was seen 50 miles away. Enemy fighters were active but did not engage our bombers.

HANGAR DEMOLISHED

"The airdrome and hangars at Asmara were attacked by another formation of R.A.F. bombers. One hangar was demolished and another severely damaged by near misses. There also were a number of direct hits on store buildings. All our aircraft returned safely.

"A further raid was carried out on Gura. Despite low clouds making accurate bombing difficult, direct hits were registered on airdrome buildings, causing several fires.

"During two raids on Chinele (Ethopia), the results of which are not yet known, our bombers were engaged by enemy fighters. One of the latter is believed destroyed. One of our bombers was compelled to make a forced landing in enemy territory.

AT EGYPTIAN BORDER

LONDON (CP)—Authoritative British quarters said today that a "considerable force of Italians is concentrated in North Africa" and is "gradually advancing" toward the Egyptian frontier.

The advance was said to be cautious, with the Italians taking "careful protective steps as they go with anti-tank and field artillery."

C.A.S.F. DEATHS NOW TOTAL 38

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Defence Department today issued its 10th casualty list for the Canadian Active Service Force overseas, announcing seven deaths.

The list also includes names of four soldiers previously reported missing and now safe. Two more are listed as dangerously ill and three as seriously ill.

These casualties bring the total since the C.A.S.F. went overseas to 38 dead and four missing.

The latest list of casualties, with regimental number and next-of-kin (no dates are reported) includes:

DEAD

Royal Canadian Engineers—Sapper Robert Leach, L-19096, Ernest E. Leach (brother), Moosomin, Sask.

Alberta Regiment—Pte. Laurence Henry Allen, M-16940, Mrs. Leona Lillian Allen (wife), Ranfurly, Alta; Pte. Ernest Alexander Delong, M-16769, Mrs. Sarah Anne Birkenshaw (grandmother), Meanook, Alta.

MISSING, NOW SAFE

Royal Canadian Artillery—Gnr. Munro Joseph Daggitt, H-24148, Mrs. Mary Daggitt (mother), 920 Lipton Street, Winnipeg.

DANGEROUSLY ILL

Royal Canadian Artillery—Bdr. Harold Edward Spicer, M-1006, Mrs. Gretchen Spicer (wife), P.O Box 1, Red Deer, Alta.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Royal Canadian Engineers—Sapper Alan Birtle, M-7220, Mrs. Agnes Birtle (wife), 11007 38th Street, Beverley, Alta.

Ladysmith Power Plant

LADYSMITH — The city will discuss plans for the use of the idle power plant if the engineer of the Finning Tractor and Equipment Company can demonstrate that the use of Diesel power coupled with the city's generators make a feasible and economic proposition. F. Ferris of the Finning Company, addressed the council on the matter and promised that an engineer from his firm would study the matter from all angles and give a detailed report.

Local gas stations want a by-law regulating their hours for gasoline sales. The petition was referred to the by-law committee.

Electrician E. T. Reid reported on a plan to modernize city street lighting.

Britons and Men From U.S. With Canadians in New Contingent

By SAM ROBERTSON

A NORTHERN BRITISH PORT (CP)—The forces guarding this embattled core of Empire were strengthened immeasurably today following the safe arrival of a further contingent of the Canadian Active Service Force, the largest yet to cross the Atlantic.

The troops came aboard an armada of great ocean liners under escort of naval guns and the friendly drone of British planes without having sighted a single bomber of the vaunted force Hitler boasts is effectively blockading the United Kingdom.

From All Provinces And United States

The troops, sun-tanned and battleworthy after months of training in the Dominion, came from every province and represent every branch of ground combat duty.

Several hundred Americans were included in the big contingent and there was the usual scattering of Canadian "redskins" and negroes. The Americans came from as far south as Alabama.

Young Donnel Van de Voort of Montgomery in that state, a private in an Ontario infantry regiment, drawled this explanation of his enlistment: "This is ouah row as well as yoahs, and fighting is mah hobby, anyway."

Many Americans wore the khaki Balmoral of a Scottish battalion recruited in Ontario just across the border from Detroit. One of them, Private Bob Brown of Wheelwright, Ky., said most of them had been working in Detroit "alongside Canadians, who were just like brothers to us."

Marine Hitch-hiked To Join in B.C.

Another was burly Bing Pondell of Los Angeles, who quit the United States Marines after 7½ years "leathernecking" and hitchhiked to Vancouver to join another Scottish unit.

Service ribbons on battle blouses marked hundreds of men back for a second smash at the Germans.

There was Corporal Francis Brogan of Celtic fighting stock from Windsor, Ont., who worked his way over in a cattle ship at the age of 14 to fight right through the last war with the Old Country's Seaforths.

It was a homecoming for scores of Englishmen. Irishmen, Scots and Welshmen who left their new homes to help defend their old. Among them was Lance-Corporal Henry Hunter, who had been working as a steeplejack around Toronto for 13 years.

Henry has three brothers in the Royal Navy and another in the British Army.

Noisy Welcome From Craft in Bay

As the Grey transports edged into the harbor, passing tugs and other craft blew whistles in salute. Lining the rails were troops bared to their waists—one of them even donned a bathing suit—taking advantage of the warm sunshine.

When the liners dropped anchor a welcoming committee boarded the ship that carried Gen. Odlum and members of his headquarters staff and there was a round of informal greetings in the cabin.

Along with ranking army and navy officers of the area were Rear-Admiral Arthur Bromely, representing the Dominions Office, L. B. Pearson, representing high commissioner Vincent Massey, and a number of officers of Canadian military headquarters in London.

The arrival of the contingent otherwise was a close military secret and a bare handful of people gathered in the streets near the docks to watch the sturdy newcomers march to trains that carried them to their training camps.

Admits He Said Too Much

Hitler's Special Agent Trailed in United States

NEW YORK (AP)—Both the driver's license and automobile registration of Dr. Gerhardt Alois Westrick, special business representative of the German government, were temporarily suspended today by the state motor vehicle commissioner, Carroll Mealey, who said he is investigating to determine whether false statements had been made by the Nazi official.

Mealey said Westrick had replied "No" in his application for a driver's license to the question whether he had any physical disability. Mealey added that he since had been informed that Dr. Westrick has an artificial leg.

The penalty for false statements, explained Commissioner Mealey, would be revocation of the certificate, plates and driver's license.

Not Talking Says Secretary

At the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where Westrick has maintained headquarters, his secretary, reported to be Baroness Immingrad von Wagenheim, said he was in but insisted "he won't say anything; he has already said too much; he has been misunderstood."

The Evening Dispatch in White Plains said the Scarsdale police, at the request of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, had been keeping a record of license numbers of automobiles which halted at the Westrick home.

The New York Herald-Tribune, which apparently has spent considerable time and effort delving into Westrick's activities since his arrival four months ago, brought them into the open yesterday by publishing a "partial" solution of his movements.

The newspaper said that although Dr. Westrick here officially as Hitler's special emissary to consult with American businessmen, had been registered at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel since June 17, it was established he and his family had been staying "with every effort at secrecy" on the Scarsdale estate of Harold A. Calpan.

The paper apparently stationed reporters to watch the house continuously for the numbers of automobiles stopping at the estate, their licenses and owners were listed in the article. It said Westrick's visitors "appear to have been of an unusually diverse character, running from factory workers and mechanics to nationally-known industrialists and oil firm executives."

Hard at Work For Ribbentrop

The paper said further that Westrick really was in the United States as the personal agent of Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, to spread sentiment in favor of Germany. To his visitors Westrick "has painted glowing pictures of the great business that a friendly United States will get from Germany as soon as Great Britain is cleaned up."

The paper added: "Just what is the nature of his business with his more modestly placed visitors can only be conjectured."

A Scarsdale, N.Y., dispatch yesterday said Westrick had been living with his family since May 6.

Dr. Westrick, a German court lawyer, is accredited in the state department's diplomatic list at Washington as commercial counsellor to the German embassy.

Destruction Rained on Nazi Centres

Hamburg in Ruins From R.A.F. Bombs

LONDON (CP) — The German port of Hamburg is "now practically in ruins," an authoritative source said today, announcing the Royal Air Force has bombed more than 100 German cities and towns containing military objectives.

With its oil refineries, munitions factories and docks, which are in the central section, Hamburg has been "pulverized again and again."

The port of Bremen, with its shipbuilding yards, docks and the Focke-Wulf aircraft factory, "has had thousands of bombs rained on it," this source declared, while Cologne, axis for international traffic in Europe, has been heavily pounded.

1,000 TARGETS

British airmen have made attacks on more than 1,000 objectives in the past three months—attacks of "genuine weight and importance."

All the attacks, this source said, were "planned with studious care, with the object of avoiding damage, if possible, to towns and cities which are nonmilitary objectives."

The air offensive has covered objectives in enemy country from Borkum, in the Friesian Islands off the extreme northwest German coast, in the North Sea, to Regen Island in the Baltic Sea.

The R.A.F. has struck night and day in the industrial Ruhr. "Within a gigantic circle," this source said, "we have inflicted irreparable damage on such places as Duisberg, Essen and Wesel" in this area, as well as at Dortmund, which occupies a position of importance in feeding the German canal system.

TOLL TAKEN AT LEIPZIG

At Leipzig, where a renowned fair is held, there is a huge power station as well as industrial objectives which have been bombed constantly," he added.

At the mediaeval town of Wernigerode the airport has been hammered by British bombers.

Other favorite R.A.F. objectives have been the Kiel and Wilhelmshaven naval bases.

British-U.S. Output Of Planes Greatest

LONDON (CP)—The magazine Aeroplane today estimated Germany's aircraft production at 1,800 machines a month, and added "there remains not the slightest doubt the potential output of Great Britain and America is much in excess of that."

"On that approximate basis—1,800 monthly—we do know that the rate of the British aircraft industry has been expanded to a figure in excess of estimated German production," the magazine said.

"On top of that, we have a steadily-increasing flow of airplanes from Canada and the United States."

Marriage Record

EDMONTON (CP)—The rush to the altar caused by announcement of compulsory military training for all bachelors brought a new monthly record to the Edmonton marriage license bureau in July, Donald Mackie, deputy registrar for the province, said there were 382 marriages here in July, nearly double the number of any previous month. Most of them took place before the July 15 "deadline."

Chamois From Sheepskins

Originally, soft chamois leather came from the now practically extinct Alpine antelope or chamois. Present day chamois is obtained from the under-split of sheepskins.

BRITAIN BOOSTS EXPORT TRADE

LONDON (CP)—Britain's industry is geared for export production as well as for making armaments. The country has set out to capture Germany's pre-war market by the mass production of toy tanks, airplanes and barrage balloons to help get dollars to pay for the real articles. Children throughout the neutral part of the world will get next Christmas blonde, blue-eyed English dolls dressed in the uniforms of the auxiliary services.

The Board of Trade established British Overseas Cottons Limited to help promote export trade in cotton products.

The Export Council hopes to help pay the bill for American planes by persuading American women to wear tweeds made in Britain.

Round Up Foreigners From Canal Zone

WASHINGTON (AP) — 81 foreign agents in the Panama Canal zone were detained for deportation, according to Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War.

Stimson was asked at his press conference to comment on a newspaper report that 265 Nazis were working on Panama Canal projects.

"There are no aliens employed either by the army or by the Canal Zone other than Panamanians," he said.

"All aliens other than Panamanians formerly employed by either the army or the Canal Zone have been discharged."

(In the Canal Zone, United States army intelligence officers disclaimed knowledge that 81 are being held. They said the only group of foreigners approaching that figure known to be in the Canal Zone were those detained at the immigration quarantine station in Balboa—mostly refugees and some of whom have been there a year or more awaiting permission to enter some American country.)

U.S. Women May Fly Planes in Canada

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Clyde Pangborn, American round-the-world flier, said here there was a possibility women pilots might be hired to fly planes for the British in Canada and England.

Here to interview applicants for air jobs in Canada and Great Britain, he said in an interview that if the British approved the idea, the women would be used as "ferry" pilots, or for other civilian tasks.

Pangborn is interviewing men for instructors' positions in Canada or the "ferry" service in England. He said they would not fight.

Visits Hospital And Fractures Ribs

OTTAWA (CP)—Frederick T. Birchall, new York Times' Ottawa correspondent, is recovering from an emergency appendicitis operation performed Monday night.

Through a nurse he told newspapermen that "I am coming along well and hope to be back at my desk as soon as the doctors will let me."

His wife, visiting him in the hospital yesterday morning, slipped on steps and fractured two ribs. Her injury was painful but not serious, and she is being treated at home.

Pouliot Suggests Mounties Come Home

OTTAWA—A request that all members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Force sent overseas be returned at once for duty in Canada was made in the House of Commons by Jean Francois Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que. He said these men were organized for policing Canada and should not have been sent overseas.

Old Dagger Donated

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's city museum was in possession of an added collection of Indian relics today, including an historic dagger made by a white captive of Vancouver Island Indians more than 100 years ago, donated by Mrs. A. D. Fish, for many years lightkeeper at the Nootka lighthouse on Vancouver Island's west coast.

The dagger was made by John R. Jewitt, armorer of the sailing ship Boston, who was taken captive by Chief Maquinna in 1803 and held for three years.

Tobacco Tax Up

AMSTERDAM (via Berlin) (AP)—A new German order announced today increases tobacco taxes in the Netherlands, effective September 15.

The tax on cigars is increased by 7½ per cent, on cigarettes by from 5 to 55 per cent, and on pipe tobacco and snuff from 7½ to 30 per cent.

Windsors Now at Sea

52 Trunks, 3 Dogs, Old Wine, 2 Maids, Valet in Party

"DUCHESS OF WINDSOR" SAVED FROM FLOOD—Thrilling rescue while she and the Duke are on the ocean. But it's just a wax model of the Duchess, used by a New York department store. During a summer storm, lightning smashed skylight and shop was flooded. Manager Patrick Dequinn is shown carrying the "Duchess" to a dry haven.

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor were en route to the Bahamas by way of New York today, possibly under long-range protection of British warships guarding against any attempted German or Italian naval coup.

This is what "Mr. and Mrs. Windsor," as they appeared on the passenger list, took with them when the American export liner Excalibur sailed late yesterday afternoon:

Three dogs, 52 pieces of luggage, an old portable sewing machine, a set of golf clubs, four basket-boxes of old Madeira and port wine and one 1940 model limousine and trailer.

The ship's sailing was delayed 40 minutes by the Duke, who was driven to the pier by his host of the past month, the Portuguese banker Aicardo Espirito Santo.

The Windsors have a veranda suite with a private deck designed for use as a gun turret in case American entry into war should convert the Excalibur into an armed auxiliary cruiser. Occupying cabins off the veranda, which will serve as a private dining-room, were the six other members of the party—Capt. George Wood, the duke's aide de camp, and Mrs. Wood, Detective Fletcher of Scotland Yard, the duchess' two maids and the duke's valet.

The duchess awaited the duke in the suite, with the British ambassador and Lady Selby and the British minister, Sir Noel Charles. Sir Noel presented two huge bouquets of roses to the duchess.

The duke has not been in the United States since 1924, when he was Prince of Wales.

The duke and duchess canceled plans to visit the United States in November, 1937, because of the reaction in labor circles there to the sponsorship of his tour. Labor leaders objected to the duke's close friendship with Charles Bedaux, American efficiency expert.

The duchess, who was born in Baltimore, has not been in her native land for many years.

Traveling on the same ship were three United States diplomats, William Phillips, ambassador to Italy; Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., ambassador to Poland, and George Gordon, minister to the Netherlands.

NASSAU WELCOME

NASSAU, The Bahamas (CP)—The Duke of Windsor will be sworn in as governor of the Bahamas with the same traditional ceremony that has been used for his predecesors in this 200-year-old colony.

There may be more tourists on hand to watch, and this little colonial capital may show more excitement than usual. But the simple, dignified ceremony in which the new governor takes his oath of office and greets his legislators will not be varied in any detail just because Edward is the first Royal Duke ever appointed governor of a British colony.

Other questions of title and of Government House etiquette raised by the unprecedented rank of the new governor remain to be settled by the government in London. But plans are made for the official welcome just as though the Duke were any career man of the colonial service.

When his ship ties up at Prince George dock, the new governor will step on Bahaman soil already attired in the uniform he will wear at official functions. In the case of the Duke, this may be the official uniform of a governor or the uniform of a major-general in the British Army or a high-ranking officer of the Royal Navy, whichever he prefers.

The Duke and Duchess will be greeted on the pier by the four Englishmen in the colonial government who are appointed directly from London—W. L. Heape, colonial secretary and acting governor until Edward's arrival; O. B. Daly, chief justice; R. W. Taylor, receiver-general and treasurer, and Eric Hallinan, attorney-general. All are newcomers and will be attending their first such ceremony in Nassau.

With them as escorts the new governor and his Duchess will walk several hundred yards across Bay Street and the public square to the little nest of official buildings. They will march to the second-floor chambers of the legislative council, on whose dark walls hang huge oil paintings of former English Kings.

The Duke will mount a dais and stand before an ornate chair symbolical of the crown he represents. Above him will be an oak canopy, topped by a gilt crown. At his left, on the floor level, will be the Duchess, the four colonial officials, the island's clergy and other leaders.

The oath of allegiance to the throne will be administered by Chief Justice Daly. The new governor, according to ancient custom, will read a brief statement to the legislators.

Admiral Pearce Dies

LONDON (CP) — Surgeon Rear-Admiral E. L. Pearce, 54, prominent London surgeon holding temporary rank in the Royal Navy during the war, died yesterday. In 1936 he assisted in an operation on Rudyard Kipling.

A pound of tea averages from 150 to 200 cups.

New Currency Rules In North China

PEIPING (AP)—The political council of Japanese-dominated north China announced new currency control today, apparently in line with formation of a closer economic block composed of Japan, north China and Manchoukuo outlined yesterday in the statement by the Japanese government of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye.

The new regulations prohibit import, export or transshipment without official permits of foreign and Chinese currencies in amounts exceeding 200 Chinese dollars. No permits are necessary to import Chinese or foreign currencies from Japan.

Great Star Discovered

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A giant exploding star between the North Star and the Dipper has been discovered by Dr. Joseph J. Johnson, California Institute of Technology astrophysicist. He said the newest supernova gives off as much light as several hundred suns rolled into a single ball.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1940

With the R.A.F.

WHILE OFFICIAL BRITISH announcements of Royal Air Force raids on Germany have mentioned the names of many centres of industrial activity attacked, the general public is more or less in the dark as to the amount of damage done, and the Nazi propaganda bureau is naturally in no hurry to satisfy our curiosity. But we are told today by "an authoritative source" in London that the great port of Hamburg is "now practically in ruins," and that Bremen, with its shipbuilding yards, docks and the famous Focke-Wulf aircraft factory, "has had thousands of bombs rained upon it." Cologne also is described as having been "heavily pounded." And "within a gigantic circle," the same source observes, "we have inflicted irreparable damage on such places as Duisburg, Essen and Wesel," while any damage to Dortmund—50 miles east of Duesseldorf and with a population of considerably more than 500,000—cannot fail to hamper traffic on the famous 170-mile canal which connects the city with the river Ems. Reports the other day, indeed, intimated that this important waterway had been rendered useless; it may be so.

The "gigantic circle" of which the "authoritative source" speaks includes, of course, all the heavy industries of which the great Krupp works at Essen form the centre. Drawing a line from Emmerich in the north to Aachen in the south, and across from Emmerich in a slightly southeastern direction to Hamm and then southwest to Cologne, and in the same direction to Aachen again, the circle includes such vital industrial points as Duisburg, Krefeld, Barmen, Elberfeld, Muenchen-Gladbach, Rheydt, Dueren, Cologne, Solingen, Remscheid, Bochum, Gelsenkirchen, Neuss, Duesseldorf, Leverkusen, Muelheim and other smaller centres which for long have owed their existence to the iron and steel industries and allied activities—which take on tremendous importance when war materials are required.

The specific reference to Cologne in today's dispatch, moreover, is significant, for this city is the great railway junction for international traffic in Europe. Over the wide Rhine and connecting this famous city with nearby important communities on the other side of the river are two great bridges whose destruction would cause considerable dislocation of military and other traffic. What, if any, damage has been done to them we have not been told. The railway station, too, is within a stone's throw of the famous cathedral, whose two tall spires can be seen for many miles, and bombs aimed at the terminus from a great height might easily miss their mark and demolish the historic Romanesque pile.

A Good Job Done

WITHOUT A RECORDED VOTE, THE Senate at Ottawa last night gave third reading to the government's Unemployment Insurance bill, and the House of Commons today—also without division—concurred in one or two minor amendments recommended by the upper chamber. Only formal royal assent is now required for its passage to the statute books of the land. Organization of the machinery essential to its administration will follow in due course. The act provides, however, that an official proclamation shall be published in the Canada Gazette stipulating the date on which contributions from workers and employers shall begin. These payments will eventually constitute the fund from which benefits under the legislation will be paid out. More than 2,000,000 workers will come within the scope of the law.

One of the last-minute objections to approval of the measure by the upper chamber came from Senator Meighen, a former Conservative Prime Minister of Canada, who sought to postpone the operation of the act until after the war. Although the Senate still retains a small majority of members of the same political persuasion as Mr. Meighen, his amendment was defeated by 43 to 26, without a division. In other words, the average member of both Houses of Parliament obviously refused to play parochial politics with this important, far-reaching legislation. Not only are its intrinsic merits clear for all to understand—since in its broad purpose it is intended to place the problem of unemployment as a recurrent national exigency on a practical economic basis—it is also designed to remove at least some of the apprehension from the workers' minds as they contemplate the prospect, from time to time, of being out of a job.

Legislation of this kind is seldom palatable to special privilege, to interests apt to lose sight of the importance of a contented working population in their almost slavish worship of unsound economic formulas—such as high tariff protection, which, sooner or later, must kill the goose that lays the golden egg. What the bill now soon to become the law of the Dominion is intended to do, among other things, however, is to anticipate some part of the aftermath of war, the transition period during which Canada will exchange its status as an armed camp for one of a peaceful and progressive community intent on tackling with firm purpose a job of whose magnitude we at present know little or nothing. In those days, whether comparatively near or far distant, our whole economic system may have to accept and deal with conditions in which unemployment insurance will play an effective part.

Before It Is Too Late

THE NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE is now advocating a treaty of mutual defence between Canada and the United States. So logical is this suggestion that there is surprise now that steps to bring about such a defence understanding have not long since been taken.

After the last 11 months' demonstrations of the possibilities of modern totalitarian war, it must be self-evident that the security of the one country of this North America is dependent upon that of the other. To be specific, if Canada were successfully invaded through the St. Lawrence Valley the way would be opened to the heart of the industrial area of United States. On this coast, invasion of Alaska would put the whole British Columbia coast under a threat. Neither Canada nor the United States could tolerate occupation by an outsider of either country's waters or territory along the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

Each country has embarked upon a policy of compulsory military service to defend its half of the continent from aggression. The defences Canada is setting up along the British Columbia and the Canadian Atlantic coast are as much an essential part of the United States defence plan as the United States air bases in Alaska and along the New England coast must be of any Canadian plan.

Yet there have been no technical consultations between the two countries to co-ordinate their defences—which must be complementary. That is, we have not yet moved to organize comprehensively, or even intelligently, the defence of our continent.

It seems absurd, in the light of the recent lessons from Europe, that the two governments of North America should not be getting together, with or without a treaty, on their problem of common defence. Both have been lagging in this matter. We hope they awaken to realities before it is too late.

Safe and Sound

STILL ANOTHER MAJOR CANADIAN contingent has reached the shores of Great Britain without accident or any incident likely to bring comfort to the heart of Adolf Hitler. The men of the Maple Leaf who stretched their legs on terra firma in the Old Land this morning left our shores "before the twilight of a dull July day" under the care of British Columbia's General Victor Odlum—who, of course, is the commander of the Second Division of the Canadian Active Service Force.

Our hats again go off to the men of the Royal Navy who guard the ships that take their precious freight from this British part of the New World to the island fortress which bars the way to further progress of the forces of evil. From all quarters of the globe over which the Union Jack flies stalwart sons of the Commonwealth have responded to the call. From Canada and New Zealand, Newfoundland and Australia, and from the Colonies, these men have traveled over the seas and not one has been lost.

It will not do, perhaps, to be too confident that at some distant date a Nazi submarine or other type of craft will not spoil this magnificent record. But we are entitled to be proud indeed that this achievement as it stands will go down in history among the glorious feats standing to the credit of the ships that fly the white ensign. And many parents and sweethearts in Canada today are relieved to know their loved ones are safe in the Old Land.

The Hartnell Case

ATTORNEY-GENERAL G. S. WISMER'S prompt decision to appeal the three-month sentence meted out to Peter George Hartnell by Magistrate H. C. Hall in the city police court last week will meet with the approval of the general public. The circumstances of the case, the nature of the evidence adduced, singled it out as one of the most flagrant violations of the Defence of Canada Regulations to be brought before any court since the outbreak of war nearly a year ago. There is no disposition anywhere to make mountains out of molehills where the unguarded word—often used without thought or malicious intent—has little or no importance and is unlikely to make any impression on those who may hear it. But the punishment imposed for an offence which had such obvious ramifications as those brought to light in the Hartnell case was so palpably inadequate as to demand further review by a higher court.

The best evidence of a clear conscience is that your pulse rate doesn't increase when the policeman stops you to test the car.

Want to Know Why

From Vancouver Sun

There are still a few Canadians who feel that by making plans against invasion with our American neighbors we are somehow indicating a lack of support for Britain.

The contrary, obviously, is the truth. At the last Imperial Conference Britain requested the dominions, as their first duty, to assume responsibility for their own defence. Can anyone argue that the defence of Canada can be planned without the co-operation of the United States? Does anyone suggest that Britain would not welcome the closest possible co-operation between all parts of the Empire and the United States? Indeed, is it not true that herein lies the real hope of the whole democratic system?

The Canadian government, we believe, has been deterred unnecessarily by the protests of a few Canadians who have not thought our problem through. If it were to announce boldly tomorrow that its military experts had laid down defence plans in collaboration with the American general staff, we believe that a vast majority of Canadians would applaud it. If the Canadian government does not deal with this problem vigorously and without further delay, a vast majority of Canadians will demand to know why.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

NUISANCE

THE CITY COUNCIL, I observe by the public prints, is greatly aroused by the smoke nuisance. This is a sure sign that our civilization remains on an even keel despite all the storms of these times. So long as people are worried about a smoke nuisance, so long as the City Council is aroused, you may be sure we have not lost our sense of proportion.

The smoke nuisance is a continuing evidence of our sanity in this town. It is cyclical in its occurrence and appears on the average every five years, like the tent caterpillar. My first job in this business, 22 years ago, was to report the smoke nuisance in the City Council. Since then it has recurred regularly and, after heroic efforts, after frenzied debates, the City Council has done nothing about it. Thus there is a beautiful certainty about this grave menace, and the impossibility of solving it, which makes you feel more secure at a time like this. Something at least is going on as usual, according to schedule.

Yet I note a certain decline in the quality of the smoke nuisance. In my time it was good for several months of public agitation and a dozen council meetings. It was good for a hundred frantic speeches and at least one mayoralty campaign. Now it doesn't even get on the front page with the Germans. That shows you how our civilization has been running down. I hardly expect, indeed, that the smoke nuisance, and our failure to solve it, will make the inside pages for another week. It palls too quickly in the face of larger nuisances overseas.

BOTCH

IN A BETTER WORLD, such as we used to inhabit, a smoke nuisance would be a big issue. A civilization which worries about a smoke nuisance must be pretty healthy. It is when a civilization has to worry about a poison gas nuisance that it can be called sick. But if we ever have time for such things again we might well consider how we have completely botched the design of this city so that there is bound to be a smoke nuisance.

When white men first settled here they chose the inner harbor at the bottom of Fort Street. It was a good choice. But not far off they had the broad sweep of Esquimalt Harbor, which would have housed most of the industries of western Canada, with good water for ships. Instead, they put their sawmills further up the inner harbor, which had been made by nature, of course, for the homes of men.

If we had used even a grain of imagination in designing the city, a promenade would run all the way from the Causeway to the Gorge with a park beside it, and, back of that, homes. Instead, we drop our industrial section into the middle of the scenery.

Not content with that, a misguided government (as a great feat of statecraft, mind you, and at enormous expense) buys the Indians off the Songhees Reserve and then uses it, of all places, for an industrial site! Thus you come into Victoria, this most beautiful city in the world, through a gateway of ghastly factory buildings and smokestacks. Where it should have been obvious even to a provincial government that the Songhees Reserve should have been a park, making a beautiful entrance into the harbor, the authorities proceed to erect smokestacks in the heart of the city, and the net result of this 100 years of bungling is one of the shabbiest harbors, one of the worst city entrances, man has yet devised.

You have to come into Victoria through the back door, stumbling between garbage cans. And with all Esquimalt Harbor available, we have even spread our industries across the narrow inner harbor to Ogden Point, where a bleak, empty grain elevator stands out, fat, bulbous, ghastly, as a monument to civic stupidity which has few equals in man's long descent into the present abyss.

BETTER DAYS

THUS WE HAVE a smoke nuisance, recurring regularly in cycles. But it is a small matter compared with the problems ahead of our grandchildren. They will not be content with a debate in the City Council every five years, a vigorous campaign to eliminate the smoke and the continuance of the smoke as usual. They will have the job of completely rebuilding the city.

They will start on Pandora Avenue. That will be the first gesture, the first sign of the revolution. When the mobs storm the local Bastille on Pandora Avenue and tear its thin stucco walls to the ground, you may know that the revolution is under way.

Eventually they will create a great industrial section far outside the city, to the advantage of the industrialist. They will tear down all the evil shacks that have lined our harbor since Sir James Douglas' time. They will sweep away the no-man's land which encircles the outer rim of our business district, and lay out the rescued land in parks and squares and gardens. They will cut broad avenues from Government Street to Oak Bay and north and south, where we have narrow, mean streets without a tree on them.

In fact, they will make Victoria as modern, 100 years from now, as the backward cities of Europe are today.

HIS PROFESSION

Col. S. Maynard Rogers, who died Wednesday in Ottawa, possessed a bright mind for practical jokes. Early in the history of Jasper, he was superintendent of the national park there and one day greeted the Duke of Connaught on the latter's visit. "What was your former business?" asked the visitor. "I followed the medical profession, your excellency." Col. Rogers had been an undertaker in Montreal.

Putting the Student Right

Professor J. A. McLaughlin of Harvard Law School, in the New York Times

THE COLLEGE STUDENT has been more impervious to the facts than the general public. He has favored academic but pointless declarations in favor of peace in the abstract. The majority seem ready to defend the continental United States, but they would like to wait until the enemy is almost here before recognizing the need. Instead of leading public opinion, their attitude would produce needless slaughter of our untrained troops. They wish to remain preoccupied with our internal problems as well as their own personal affairs. The Allies are usually mentioned in disparaging terms.

This attitude would seem to indicate serious failure in education. A regime that cures unemployment by creating soldiers and munitions slaves can fire its youth with a false religion built on suppression of truth. During the last decade Americans have been losing their faith in themselves on account of the depression. We have in effect told our youth that they ought to do a better job than we have done, but we have failed to implant in them faiths which we never thought of questioning. Nazi and Communist propaganda have had the field to themselves. These have chiefly followed five lines, distinguishable although somewhat overlapping: (1) Isolationism, (2) pacifism, (3) distrust of our own institutions, (4) distrust of the British, (5) discrediting our participation in the last war.

1. Isolationism — That we are not concerned with European affairs. This is now belied in practice by almost every American old enough to listen to a radio, but strong residues of reluctance remain.

PACIFISM A DETERRENT

2. Pacifism — Our horror of mass murder as a method of national expansion naturally leads us to resist clear-cut aggression of that sort lest the powers of nations be in direct proportion to their capacity for such evil. Doctrinaire pacifism thus cannot prevail, but it has been a minor force delaying preparedness and discrediting attempts to help the Allies.

3. Distrust of our own institutions—Teachers are dismayed when they find that their own harsh criticism of democratic actions have tended to confuse the issues which have come out sharply in this war. When I, for instance, expressed dismay at the machinations of the Chamberlain government with reference to Spain, I had no intention of strengthening the fforces of evil. But several teachers in high school and college have found such criticisms have been accepted with insufficient sense of proportion.

4. Distrust of England — The academic left wing regards the Conservative British government as the greatest source of evil. It persistently ignores or suppresses the fact that it was the opposition of the British Labor Party that implemented public opinion which virtually forced the Conservative government to stand up against Hitler. The same academic circles are strangely silent about the Nazis' substitution of slavery for the labor movement. The most unfair critic of England must concede the need of helping her while she holds the key to our own safety.

Our moral preparedness is much weakened, however, by the constant repetition of cliches damaging to our own defence. The story of how we took this country away from the Indians may be told sympathetically or unsympathetically. A great many of the charges made against England are, as a matter of demonstrable fact, false.

RIGHTS OF INDIVIDUALS

Too much emphasis upon the assumed evils of imperialism has unduly obscured British emphasis upon the rights of the individual. This is carried to the point of respect for strange and uneconomical native customs which are given the force of law, considerably to the inconvenience of the Europeans. Millions of natives have been led to self-respect. They have been offered education not of the Nazi propaganda type but of the broadest sort they are able to absorb. Gandhi is a British university graduate. Even Nehru, the most radical Indian nationalist, has expressed the desire to postpone any action to embarrass Britain in her hour of peril.

German attempts to foment unrest of natives throughout the Empire have been so barren as to astonish any one not cognizant of the truly civilizing character, or balance, of British influence. There are some obvious things which may become obscured to the American college man, but are well understood by millions of natives who stop at the obvious.

5. Discrediting our participation in the last war—Here, college opinion and enemy propaganda follow parallel courses. Cynicism is regarded as realism. Any courageous statement of what a non-provincial American should stand for is dubbed "Allied propaganda." This goes along with labeling as "war hysteria" the attempts to shake people out of their secure slumber.

Perhaps one can only testify for himself. I felt that I was one of the few millions who were farthest ahead of public opinion in getting us into the last war. We believed that Prussian aggression could only be checked by force. We were brought up in an atmosphere of faith and security and felt no pressure to render ourselves insensitive to injustices abroad. We were profoundly shocked by the invasion of Belgium. We believed in international law.

RULES DISREGARDED

Those of us who experienced war and necessarily know its horrors better than those who have only read about it believed the more strongly that rules to limit the ravages of war upon neutrals and upon noncombatants in belligerent countries were worth trying to save by opposing the nation which always took the lead in their destruction. We believed that the Germans committed serious crimes in disregarding rules as suited their convenience. We believed that diplomatic representatives were welcomed in a country to foster trade and cultural ties and not to administer espionage and sabotage.

The role of Allied propaganda has been greatly overemphasized. A malicious, lying German propaganda was more potent in arousing our heat.

The League of Nations need not have been a forlorn hope of better things. It was a bright hope. Winning the last war made it possible not only to put down aggression by overwhelming force, but to maintain a clearing house for adjusting reasonable complaints. American influence could also have worked toward assuaging bitter feelings and promoting an earlier entrance of Germany into the League and a more cordial reception of her republic there. Subsequent experience seems to demonstrate forcibly the imperative need of collective security if the present menace of the dictatorships can be brought within control.

WORTH-WHILE SAVING

The fact that this country is finally making desperate motions in the direction of armament is significantly timed. It dates from May 10, when the monster started breaking through in our direction. We really know in our hearts that the Allies as a matter of cold fact were fighting our fight all the time.

We must now remind ourselves of what we have worth saving and consider what we can do to help England help us to save it.

Our very faith in ourselves must embody a conviction that the college man will join us in trying to save the elementary foundations which are indispensable to all efforts to construct the better life. He will do this when he sees the truth.

But when? There is not much time.

INVADE ENGLAND?

Maj. Alexander P. De Seversky (plane designer, in an article for the North American Newspaper Alliance): "I remain convinced that there will be no such invasion of Britain—unless Germany possesses a huge secret armada of new types of fighting aircraft about which the outside world has as yet no inkling. There is a great gulf between the political logic of the Fuehrer's threats and the tactical realities of the situation. If victory has gone to Herr Hitler's head and he overrides the objections of his strategists in this connection, then Germany is heading for a terrific failure."

MAKE WAY FOR NAVY

A new recruit was asked by his officer to find the ship's position. The recruit returned after a long absence and handed the officer a piece of paper showing their position. The officer immediately came to attention and saluted. The new recruit said: "Why did you salute me, sir?"

The officer replied: "I did not salute you, I saluted the King. According to the position you have worked out, we are now in Buckingham Palace."

Better English

By D. C. WILLIAMS

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "I don't know nothing about it."

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "abstemious"?

3. Which one of these words is misspelled—Promiscuous, promisory, promontory?

4. What does the word "gracious" mean?

5. What is a word beginning with ur that means "courteous"?

Answers

1. Say, "I don't know anything about it," or, "I know nothing about it." 2. Pronounce ab-ste-mi-us—e as in me (not as in stem), accent second syllable. 3. Promissory. 4. Abounding in grace or mercy; manifesting love. "A God ready to pardon, gracious and merciful"—The Bible. 5. Urbane.

DEFINITION

A fanatic is a person who redoubles his efforts after he has lost sight of his objective.—George Santayana.

"THE SALAD WITH LEMON - MARVELOUS! NO?"

"YES!"

Freshness and flavour make the salad . . . and fresh lemon juice dressings give you both. Use fresh lemon juice as the tart ingredient in your favorite dressing recipe. No need to change the proportions.

"THE FISH ... SUPERB! NO?"

"YES!"

You enjoy the full, savoury flavour of fish with lemon. Rub the fish with lemon juice before cooking. Then bring it in garnished with gay lemon slices and easy-to-squeeze lemon quarters. Fish becomes a family triumph!

"TEA-MEAT-THE VEGETABLES - ALL BETTER! NO?"

"DEFINITELY YES!"

Yes, all these foods reveal their true deliciousness with lemon. So do stewed fruits. And the "juices." Refreshing drinks are made more cooling. And lemons' own flavour makes lemon pie a favorite everywhere.

GOOD HEALTH, as well as good flavour, is an important reason for using lemons liberally! The only known source of vitamin P, they supply vitamins C and B_1 also. Aid digestion. So buy Sunkist Lemons by the dozen and never be without them.

'Y' Gives Troops Talking Movies

The war services committee of the Y.M.C.A. started a new feature this week in its program of entertainment for the troops stationed on the island.

An enthusiastic audience of soldiers at the Macaulay Point hut of the association, and a similar group of men of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Patricia Bay, were given the first of a weekly series of talking moving pictures.

The title of the movie was "Nurse From Brooklyn," starring Sally Eilers and Paul Kelly. A French Riviera film, "Music and Flowers," and a "Strange As It Seems" reel were also shown.

The "Y" has a new sound projector and will continue the series as long as the film supply lasts. Many of the better-known films will be shown.

Shows will be given free of charge Monday nights at Macaulay; Tuesdays at Patricia Bay and Wednesdays at the forts.

Rev. J. Herdman, secretary of the war services' committee, is in charge. R.C.A.F. technicians will run the project at the Patricia Bay shows.

LONDON (CP)—Not as an excuse but in explanation Augustus John, the prominent artist, said he neglected to turn off a switch, leaving a bright light in his studio window at 3 a.m. He was fined £3 ($13.35) for breach of the blackout regulation.

Music Arranged For City Parks

Transcription concerts will be given in Beacon Hill Park for the remaining Sundays of the summer season, and two performances each by the Kinsmen's Boys' Band and the Victoria Boys' Band will be presented in other parks, W. H. Warren, parks superintendent, announced today.

The Kinsmen's Boys' Band has been invited to play at Central Park on August 13 and Hollywood Park on August 29.

The Victoria Boys' Band has been requested to give concerts at Victoria West Park on August 15 and Stadacona Park on August 22.

Land, Building Boom in City

The volume of city reverted property sales during the first seven months of this year find magnified reflection in home building figures since January 1, totals compiled by the lands office and building inspector's departments disclosed today.

Up to July 31, a total of 180 properties have been sold this year against 98 at the same date in 1939. During the same periods there have been 124 houses built this year against 57 last year. Throughout all of 1939 there were only 86 dwellings erected.

Values of the 124 constructed to date were listed at $350,010 against $174,770 for the equivalent months in 1939.

The boom in that department slackened off in the city during July, only four dwellings worth $14,100 being built against six worth $25,000 in July last year.

Values generally last month, however, remained well above those for the 1939 period, 53 permits being issued for work worth $79,803 against 52 worth $61,119 in July last year.

OVER $1,000,000 MARK

Since the beginning of the year 463 permits have been issued for work worth $1,131,554 against 454 for projects of a total value of $460,348 at July 31 last year.

Features in this year's construction to date are three hospital jobs worth $35,000, $175,000 and $101,000 respectively, three apartments with an aggregate worth of $64,500 and one apartment bungalow undertaking valued at $25,000. Last year one apartment was erected at a cost of $20,000.

While revenue kept pace with volume in the building department, the lands office, owing largely to bargain sales this year, showed the emphasis mainly on volume.

Cash receipts for the year to date from that department amount to $90,549 against $91,612 in 1939, including the respective July totals of $7,423 and $8,836.

During the seven months this year 180 parcels have been sold against 98 last year. Last month 23 deals were put through against five in July, 1939.

Sales figures for the month were $10,475, which helped to swell the aggregate for the year to date to $52,083. In July, 1939, sales amounted to $3,100, a figure included in the total of $52,095 for the 1939 seven-month period.

B.C. Police Changes

Staff changes and promotions in the B.C. police have been announced by headquarters here, following approval of the Attorney-General's department.

Subinspector Roger Peachey, director of the criminal investigation bureau, has been made a full inspector in charge of this branch.

Staff-Sergeant Richard Harvey, formerly N.C.O. in charge of Victoria district, has been promoted to subinspector, stationed at Kamloops. Since his removal from here Staff-Sergeant Harvey has been stationed at Kamloops.

Staff-Sergeant E. Gammon, Prince Rupert, has been made subinspector of the Prince Rupert division, while Inspector G. Barker will take over the Kamloops division, moving from Prince Rupert.

Constable Elmer Holm, for several years stationed with Victoria district, has been transferred to the Campbell River detachment, with Constable M. N. McAlpine. This was formerly a one-man detachment.

Disciplined Spending

Travel Across Border Halted by Money Ban

Rare indeed, in these momentous days, is the Canadian traveler with ample money in his wallet to spend with an amiable neighbor across a friendly border.

In fact, he just doesn't exist as a pleasure seeker.

And it is all due to Canada's determination to curb the export of money so that it can be conserved for the purchase of essential materials to win the war.

The people want to help win the war, of course, and they will sacrifice a great deal to do so.

But they are travel-minded, like their American cousins, and they have absorbed the historic principle of the 3,000 miles of unguarded border, across which they have been free to come and go at will.

Whatever the urge to travel for pleasure, however, the inclination naturally receives a tremendous check when little or no money is made available to spend on little personal extravagances.

The first obstacle was imposed when the United States required all Canadians entering that country to have passports, effective July 1 last, and this was followed up by the Foreign Exchange Control Board's ban on the export of money from Canada.

FORMIDABLE BARRIERS

So, under the circumstances, travel to the United States by Canadians is by no means the simple matter it used to be in more normal times.

It has, on the other hand, developed into a very formidable procedure.

You may go to the trouble of obtaining a passport and a visa, and then you may be told that you can't go because of the money regulations.

The prospective traveler is kept in doubt up to the moment he arrives at the boat.

Everything depends, it would seem, on the attitude of the immigration officer, acting in the interests of the United States, who will be found stationed at the head of every gangplank when you are about to embark.

If he happens to be in a pleasant mood, and is satisfied that you won't be a charge upon the government, you have a fair chance of getting by—otherwise, it's thumbs down.

UP TO INSPECTORS

In the past, it has been the practice to have on your person a sufficient sum of money to comply with the United States immigration laws.

This requirement has now been temporarily "washed up," due to the new developments governing Canadian travel.

The decision is left largely to the discretion of the U.S. immigration inspectors.

For persons in border towns who want to visit friends, and providing they have a good reason, the money control authority has just announced that the regulations will be eased slightly.

They will be allowed their traveling expenses and not more than $5 in Canadian funds.

Canadians simply can't cross the American border for pleasure purposes alone.

If the traveler succeeds in convincing the Canadian authorities that his mission comes under the heading of essential business, he is relieved of his surplus cash and budgeted with ruthless severity.

INSTANCES GIVEN

There are instances of well-fixed Canadians who are permitted to take so little money when they cross the border that the U.S. authorities threaten to turn them back because they may become public charges.

Recently, to quote an authoritative source, a Canadian youth wanted to go to San Francisco to marry his financee, an American girl, and in view of the special circumstances, he was allowed to take along the sum of $25. How he got along, saddled with the customary wedding fees and incidental honeymoon expenses, was not disclosed.

Another case was that of a British national who, reaching Victoria from overseas, decided that it was imperative for him to visit the United States.

It cost him $2 to get his British passport O.K.'d by the Canadian immigration department and he then went to the bank to fill out Form H and find out what money he could take with him.

It was then that he learned that the money export ban was non-elastic and became indignant over the inconvenience he had been subjected to in getting his passport revised without any prospect of getting a rebate.

Then again, a Canadian woman had to go to Seattle to attend the accouchement of her daughter-in-law. There was no time to secure a money permit, and it is improbable that she would have been granted one anyway, the birth of a grandchild apparently not coming within the scope of essential business.

She was without funds when she reached the American side, but was permitted to proceed when her son gave assurances he would provide for her.

Also without money, three Canadian girls crossed the border to attend an American wedding as bridesmaids. Here, again, the matter of funds was again adjusted by friends, or they would have been turned back.

After a Canadian business man had succeeded in getting a money export permit for a business trip to California, his wife decided that she wanted to go along, too. The Canadian authorities would not let her go, ruling that when the wife accompanied the husband it was considered a pleasure trip.

It is surprising how many people now want to visit sick relatives, participate in matrimonial ventures, transact important legal business or attend conventions, according to one travel authority.

BOATS AFFECTED

The restrictions now imposed on the movement of Canadians across the border, it was pointed out today, will ultimately seriously affect steamer travel out of Victoria.

At present, with the tourist season at its peak, the boats leaving for Seattle are carrying capacity loads—mostly Americans.

But after the tourist rush is over—unless the restrictions are amended—it is feared the boats will be practically deadheading across the straits.

'Mounties' Warn 'Rumormongers'

"It is the duty of the public to be on the alert and to notify the police promptly of all reasonably suspicious incidents," say the editorial of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police quarterly, with reference to the rounding up of enemy aliens in the Dominion.

The 122-page book of general articles, instructional articles, stories, reviews and pictures, which is just off the presses, adds "But everyone is urged to refrain from conjuring up bogeymen out of wild rumors and untrue reports."

Innumerable letters, phone calls, messages of every kind, the editorial continues, have flooded police offices across the country with fantastic complaints regarding subversive activities.

"Every reasonable precaution is being taken to cope with the situation. By loose and irresponsible talk, rumor-mongers retard the work of the police and advance the odious aims of enemy propagandists."

RESTRICT PHOTOS OF LOWER ISLAND

The shutters of land and seascape photographers on the southern end of Vancouver Island were sealed today by order of the Department of National Defence.

The order listed the localities where pictures may not be taken without special written permission from the officer commanding Military District No. 11. Regulations further prohibited publication of such pictures without the approval of the O.C.

The regulations also applied to sketches, plans or other representations.

The localities and institutions covered by the ban were Esquimalt Harbor, upper and lower Victoria Harbor, the shoreline faces of banks or cliffs of southern Vancouver Island contiguous and adjacent thereto and extending from Sheringham Point on the southwest coast, to and including Sidney Island, James Island, Coal Island and Piers Island.

The shoreline and area in the immediate vicinity of Sooke Lake and Goldstream Lake situated northwest of the city of Victoria.

Baron Saves Life Of Injured Miner

STEWART, B.C.—When a box of blasting caps exploded at the Red Top Mine up the Bear River, H. Hansen was severely burned about the lower limbs.

Baron H. Quiekstad, well-known mining magnate for whom Hanson was working, arrested the bleeding, then in an all-night walk covered the 18 miles to Stewart to get medical aid and notify the police.

The baron guided to the scene of the explosion the rescue party, joined at 4 a.m. by Dr. M. Morrison. As a result of the baron's quick action, Hanson was in the Stewart hospital within 24 hours and his life saved.

To Broadcast Gracie On Cheer-up Program

Portions of the Gracie Fields-Ann Neagle program will be picked up at Beacon Hill Park and amplified for those taking part in tonight's "Cheer-up" program, under the direction of the city celebration committee, Alderman W. H. Davies, chairman, said today.

The frolic, sing and dance at the park will continue from 8 to 10.30. The usual war savings stamp competition will be held.

LANGFORD

A public meeting will be held in the Legion Hall, Island Highway, on Monday at 8. The speaker will be W. H. Pomery on "The Awakening of Our Race," under the auspices of the British Israel World Federation.

Queen Congratulates Captor of Raider

LONDON (CP) — Mrs. Nora Cardwell, who won the Order of the British Empire for single-handedly capturing a downed German airman, confessed to Queen Elizabeth today that "I think I was very foolish but very lucky."

"You were very brave," the Queen told Mrs. Cardwell, who early this month subdued the man with nothing more than a "fierce frown" and marched him off down the road until she met some British soldiers.

The Queen talked with Mrs. Cardwell while visiting a town in northeast Britain.

This Treatment Relieves Burns

Discovery of the use of tannin in the treatment of burns, scalds and sunburn has revolutionized methods of bringing relief from suffering.

Taniquin, a special preparation containing tannin, has a water-soluble jelly base which spreads evenly over the skin. After application, it should be allowed to dry thoroughly and then lightly bandaged. Taniquin is sold for 47c at all Cunningham Drug Stores and other drug stores.

Heather Day Plans Made by Chapter

Heather Day will be commemorated this year by the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. on Saturday, August 24, instead of on Monday, August 26. All proceeds from the sale of heather are to go to war funds. Anyone willing to help on this occasion will please phone the convener, Mrs. Bertha Parsons, at G 7491, the headquarters will be announced shortly.

Endorsation of the resolution sent from Municipal Chapter re the Bible in the schools, was unaminously endorsed by the chapter.

A vote of thanks was passed in appreciation to the war work convener, Miss Georgina Herd, and Mrs. J. Quinn, who does such splendid work for the soldiers and sailors.

Mrs. A. S. Christie, the regent, gave a report of her interview with Mr. Moore, Indian Agent for this district. The recent suicide case of a Saanich Indian on investigation proved not to be a case of starvation, as erroneously stated, but had been caused by other reasons, she said. The Indians are cared for very well by the federal government, but it was felt that Mr. Moore should have an assistant and also a nurse who could visit the homes and help the women with hygienic instruction.

The chapter plans to arouse interest by providing used clothing for some of the poorer members of the local tribes during the winter season.

Mrs. F. G. Mulliner gave the Echoes secretary's report. Mrs. Edith Fletcher was welcomed as a member at this meeting.

Women's Symphony Makes Its Debut

MONTREAL (CP)—Only complete women's symphony orchestra in Canada has made its debut a successful one.

The Montreal Women's Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Ethel Stark, gave its first concert at the Chapel atop Mount Royal Wednesday night, and a capacity audience gave hearty approval. Included in the orchestra is Canada's only woman tympanist, May Fluhmann, and one of the few women French horn players in the Dominion.

It was not an easy program that the orchestra picked for itself. It opened with the "Coriolanus" overture of Beethoven, followed by a Bach suite for strings.

The orchestra was founded by Mrs. H. B. Bowen, one of Montreal's well-known amateur violinists. The 50 members of the orchestra have been practicing two and three times a week for some time, under the direction of Miss Stark, noted violinist.

Maeterlinck's Wine

NEW YORK—Maurice Maeterlinck, the great Belgian writer, now a refugee with his young wife from the Nazi fury, visited the Rainbow Room, 65 stories high in Rockefeller Centre.

August, the wine captain, served him Botard-Montrachet wine with the dinner. Maeterlinck asked how he knew that was his favorite wine. August said: "I used to serve you, sir, 18 years ago, in the Tavern Royale, in Brussels."

Teachers Cycling To Ketchikan

JUNEAU, Alaska. (AP) — It didn't take long for two women schoolteachers to trade their sea legs for their bicycle legs.

Miss Mildred Hubbert of Portland, Ore., and her cousin, Miss Lillian Taylor of Elgin, Ill., who bicycled a large part of the way to Ketchikan via the British Columbia Cariboo Highway, arrived here by boat last night.

They immediately unpacked their wheels and pedalled 13 miles out of town where they spent their night in a cabin.

They said they intended to take a steamer Saturday for Skagway en route to Dawson, Y.T., and possibly Fairbanks, Alaska.

Miss Beryl Ferguson, Elford Street, has returned after a holiday trip up the West Coast.

Mrs. Herbert R. Hammond, who has been spending the last few months in England has returned to Canada with her mother, Mrs. A. T. Ogilvie and after spending a few days in Winnipeg will return to her home in Victoria.

In honor of Mrs. A. Stewart, formerly Miss May Muir, a post nuptial shower was held last evening by the Misses Iris Penbridge and Mavis Lawless at the home of Miss Lawless, 1059 Deal Street. The gifts were presented in a chest of white and pink crepe paper. Supper was served from a table centred with a shower cake, beautifully decorated with roses, and flanked with lighted white candles in silver holders and vases of pink snapdragon. The guests included Mrs. A. Stewart, and the Misses Velma Lawless, Margery Symonds, Sylvia Grist, Josephine Flack, Mary Clark, Josephine Perri, Eileen Dunn, Elsie Stewart, Audrey Murdoch, Joan Mason and Patricia Cameron.

In honor of Miss Beverley Pearce, whose marriage to Mr. David McAdams will take place tomorrow, Miss Gwen Hichens-Smith entertained last evening with a shower. The gifts were placed on a stretcher and carried into the room by the Misses Pat Pearce and Victoria Hichens-Smith, who were dressed as stretcher bearers, in compliment to the bridegroom-elect, who is with an ambulance corps. As the honored guest arrived, Miss Gwen Hichens-Smith played Lohengrin's Wedding March and then presented Miss Pearce with a corsage bouquet of sweet peas. Suppere was served from a table covered with a lace cloth and centred with a crystal bowl filled with carnations and lighted mauve tapers in silver holders. Mrs. W. Smith of Wells, Nevada, aunt of the bride-elect, presided at the supper table. Other guests included: Mrs. S. S. Pearce, Mrs. S. Hobbis, Mrs. W. E. Nachtrieb, Mrs. Ralph Frethey, Mrs. Arthur Acland, Mrs. J. Hall and the Misses Judy and Pat Pearce, Dolores Hobbis, Doris Manning, Vimie Kilsby and Isobel Pike.

Weddings

HOLLAND-STERLING

At St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, on Monday evening at 8.30, in a setting of gladioli, the wedding of Vera Windsor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Sterling, 1544 Amphion Street, and Mr. John James Holland, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Holland, 1009 Inverness Street, was solemnized by Ven. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a floor-length frock of delphinium blue sheer with puff sleeves, and a blue hat trimmed with flowers in a deeper shade. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and rosebuds. Miss Catherine Johnston was bridesmaid, in a floor-length jacket frock of pink sheer, with a blue doll hat trimmed with pink flowers, and carried a sheaf of blue gladioli and pink carnations. Mr. Frank Holland supported his brother. Posies of sweet peas marked the guest pews.

Gladioli and sweet peas were used in decoration at the home of the bride's parents, where relatives and a few friends were welcomed after the service. The bride's cake stood in the centre of the supper table, which was covered with a lace cloth and at each corner were silver sweet peas.

Following a motor trip into the interior of British Columbia, for which the bride left in a pink dress with navy blue accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Holland will make their home in Victoria.

PHILPOTT—CLARE

At the Douglas Street Baptist Church on Wednesday evening at 8.30, Rev. F. W. McKinnon united in marriage Gladys Ruby, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Clare, 538 Sumas Street, and Arthur Colbourne Philpott, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Philpott, 146 Crease Avenue. The ceremony was performed under an arch of flowers.

Mr. Roland Clare gave his sister in marriage. She wore a white satin gown, made with bustle effect, and a sweetheart neckline, and her veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Garnet Clare, the matron of honor, was gowned in turquoise blue net over taffeta, with a doll hat of flowers to match, and Miss Eve Philpott was bridesmaid, in pale pink tafetta, with a large Leghorn picture hat. Both carried Colonial bouquets of sweet peas and roses. Mr. Alfred Dash was the groomsman, and Messrs. George Inrig and Douglas Craig were ushers. During the signing of the register, Miss Catherine Craig sang "Because."

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Hampton Hall, where the young couple stood beneath a floral arch to receive felicitations. Mrs. Claire received the guests in a gown of black and white printed silk, assisted by Mrs. Philpott, mother of the groom, in a navy blue and white gown, both wearing corsage bouquets of carnations and sweet peas.

The hall was decorated in mauve and white, flowers in the pastel shades being arranged on the supper table which was centred with the three-tier bride's cake.

After a motor trip on the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Philpott will reside at the corner of Yates and Fernwood. The bride traveled in a black and white pinpoint frock, with touches of red, and a white coat and accessories.

PRICE—BOSENCE

At a pretty ceremony at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. F. W. McKinnon, 3440 Saanich Road, last evening at 8.30, Audrey Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bosence, Gordon Head, became the bride of Mr. Harold Price, youngest son of Mr. A. E. Price, Langley Street, and the late Mrs. Price. Miss McKinnon played the wedding music and the young couple stood beneath a decorated arch for the service.

Given in marriage by Mr. C. Chivers, the bride was gowned in white satin, made on princess lines, with a jacket of white lace. Her embroidered veil was caught at the head with gardenias and she carried a shower bouquet of pink and white roses and carnations.

There were four attendants, Mrs. Victor Peddle was matron of honor, in a pink net redingote over satin, with a doll hat and veil to match, and Miss Joan Watson, bridesmaid, in a pale blue net redingote over blue satin, with matching doll hat and veil, both carrying colonial bouquets of carnations. Two little nieces of the bride acted as flower girls, Shirley Tuttle, in pink, and Mrytle Wrattan, in primrose yellow, daintily dressed in taffeta frocks fashioned alike, with halos of matching flowers in their hair. Mr. Albert Price suported his brother.

Nearly 100 guests were welcomed later at the S.O.E. Hall, where Mrs. Bosence received in a gown of navy blue patterned sheer, with navy hat and a corsage bouquet of roses, and was assisted by Mrs. Wm. Warren. The young couple stood beneath a white archway and wedding bell to receive the good wishes of their friends.

Gus Michaux's orchestra played for dancing, and refreshments were served from a table decorated with white candles, and silver vases of carnations and centred with the three-tiered cake.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Price left for a honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs, the bride donning a dusty pink frock, and a Queen's blue princess coat with grey fox. They will make their home at 3149 Seymour Avenue on their return.

WIGHT—FANTHORPE

Rev. W. J. Sipprell, D.D., officiated at the marriage of Audrey Cecelia, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fanthorpe, 3073 Millgrove Street, and Mr. Frank Charles Wight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wight, 1962 Bouchier Street, which took place in Metropolitan United Church manse at 7.45 o'clock last evening.

Mr. Fanthorpe gave his daughter away, and she wore an afternoon frock of white lace trimmed with pearl buttons, a white turban with a pearl ornament, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and pink rosebuds. Attending her was Mrs. Peggy Bryson, in a frock of pink flat crepe with a pink floral hat and veil and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds and sweet peas. Mr. James Bailey was best man.

About 50 guests were entertained in the Royal Bank Hall, who were welcomed by Mrs. Fanthorpe in a navy blue silk dress with yellow accessories and a corsage bouquet of yellow rosebuds. A profusion of flowers had been arranged in the hall and dancing was enjoyed. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centred with the cake, which was surmounted by a vase of sweet peas, and lighted with tall pink tapers.

After their honeymoon upisland, for which the bride donned a beige coat with lynx collar, Mr. and Mrs. Wight will make their home at Danes Court.

KEITH—RIDDLER

At the home of the bride's parents yesterday, the marriage took place quietly of Margaret Balfour, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Riddler, 524 Michigan Street, and John Keith, R.C.N.R., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Keith, Dumfermline, Scotland. Rev. C. D. Clarke officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a Queen's blue sheer frock with a corsage bouquet of tearoses, and was attended by her sister, Miss Isabel Riddler, in a crepe frock in a deeper blue with a corsage bouquet of tearoses. Robert Turnbull, R.C.N.R., was best man.

Mrs. Riddler was assisted in receiving the relatives and intimate friends by Mrs. James Beck and Mrs. Porteous, aunts of the bride. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace and cutwork cloth, centred with the two-tier wedding cake, which was surrounded with folds of tulle.

After their honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride left in a navy blue coat over her wedding outfit, with white hat and white accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Keith will reside in Victoria.

B.C. Employment Records Gain

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian business establishments added an average of three employees each to their staffs during June, bringing the total number of names on their payrolls to 1,220,791 compared with 1,184,283 the previous month, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. In June last year 1,126,216 persons were employed in the 12,000 firms.

Since the increase was above normal in the experience of other years of the record, the seasonally-adjusted index advanced to 122.3 compared with 120.9 a month before.

In British Columbia continued advances were made with 101,702 persons employed compared with 99,151 at the end of May and 97,267 July 1 last year. Manufacturing was seasonally busier, particularly in the food, lumber and iron and steel divisions. Transportation, construction and trade also reported improvement. Slight gains were made in mining, communications and services. Logging showed curtailment as the result of a number of camps closing because of the fire hazard.

Woman Urges House Act Instead of Talk

OTTAWA (CP) — Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, Unity, North Battleford, wants Parliament to "do something and not talk so much."

The lone woman member of the House, who spoke during the wheat debate last night, received rounds of applause.

MEAT CUTS BY RANK

Men cut their meat in accordance with their station in life in the Ireland of the third century. Fine steaks were for kings; heads for physicians; shanks for jesters, jugglers and chess players; shins for musicians and masons; broken bits for servants; the fat underside of the shoulder for strong, skilled workers.

This is "SALAD CELEBRITY WEEK" In Victoria

SEE YOUR GROCER THIS WEEK FOR GRAND SALAD IDEAS!

Grocers listed below are featuring salad and picnic foods with Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and other delicious Best Foods Products for summer menus.

TRY THIS VITAMIN VARIETY SALAD

(Supplies Vitamins A, B-1, C, D, E)

7 slices of red apple
6 slices onion
12 slices orange
11 large prunes
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
Cherries
Lettuce
Best Foods Real Mayonnaise

Remove core and slice unpeeled apples crosswise. Peel and slice onions and seeded oranges crosswise. Remove pits from prunes, steam or cook until tender, and cool. Stuff each with cream cheese mixed with 1 tablespoon Real Mayonnaise and insert a half cherry on top. Arrange apple, onion and orange slices on lettuce leaves on chop plate. Garnish with stuffed prunes and whole cherries (as illustrated). Serve with Real Mayonnaise. Serves 6.

IF you haven't tasted Best Foods Real Mayonnaise before, why not make "Salad Celebrity Week" your time to get acquainted? You'll find it gives your family a new appetite for salads!

You see, Best Foods Real Mayonnaise is different from "Salad Dressing." It contains no starchy filler. It is all mayonnaise—real mayonnaise—and doesn't turn watery when you add milk or fruit juices.

And this Real Mayonnaise tastes even fresher than home-made, for it is made with our own "FRESH-PRESS" Salad Oil which we ourselves prepare fresh each day, as it is needed. Then, in our powerful double-whipper the ingredients are so completely blended that Real Mayonnaise, with all its home-made richness, is even lighter in texture than home-made, and has a light, zestful flavor, free from oily taste.

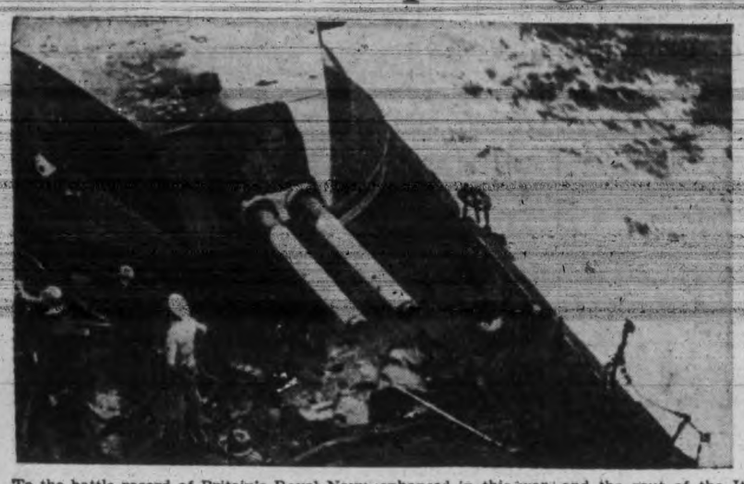
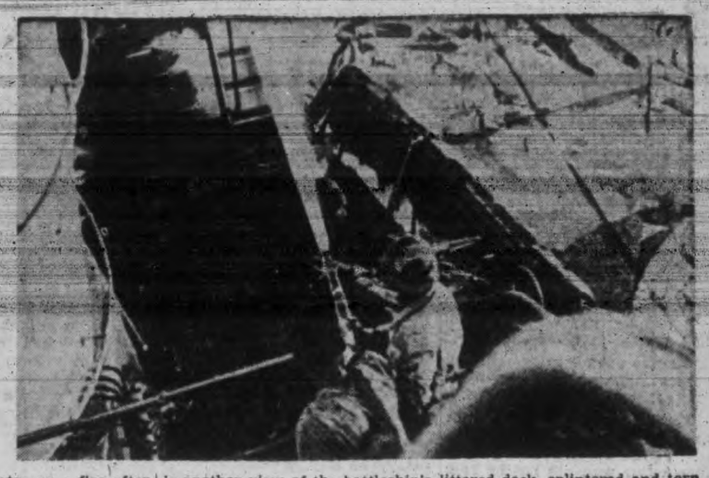
Italian Warship Staggers From British Blows





To the battle record of Britain's Royal Navy, enhanced in this war by the Graf Spee encounter, the fierce fighting off Norway and the story of Dunkirk, has been added the capture of the French fleet and the rout of the Italian navy in the Mediterranean. Here are views of the havoc wrought by British shells in one of the battles with Mussolini's vaunted war fleet. Taken aboard an Italian battleship, the picture at left shows sailors pouring water on a fire after a direct hit by a British shell. One gun turret is shattered and useless, and the smokestack has been blown open, centre. At right is another view of the battleship's littered deck, splintered and torn by the impact of the shell and flying fragments of steel.

"MOVING MOUNTAIN"—Spectators view a damaged street on Point Fermin's famous six-acre sliding mountain, near San Pedro, Cal., after a section of the hillside dropped 10 feet during the last few days.

Lovely Anna Neagle smiles her greeting to Victoria as she steps from a seaplane at Esquimalt. She will appear this evening with Gracie Fields at the Royal Victoria Theatre, all proceeds going to the Navy League.

MACABRE FIND IS AXE-SLAYING—Slain body of a 35-year-old woman discovered stuffed in the rumble seat of a car by a Los Angeles parking lot attendant, was identified as Gladys Long. Her self-asserted common law husband, right, Ralph W. Griggs, 45, confessed killing her and driving around for two weeks with the body in the rear of his auto.

ITALIANS WENT ON FROM HERE—Before signing of Franco-Italian armistice, this station, at Daouenle, Ethiopia, marked the limit of Italian "sphere of influence" over French-owned Addis Ababa railroad. Now Italians have full rights on strategically-important road right through to Red Sea port of Djibuti, French Somaliland.

Registration Machinery Whirls

A railway express car at Union Station, Ottawa, is loaded with 800 bags filled with National Registration forms, ready to be taken to British Columbia. Shipments to other provinces will follow day by day.

Mail bags, each containing 75 to 80 pounds, are loaded into express cars. The speed with which the registration under the direction of the Hon. J. G. Gardiner is being put into effect constitutes a record in Governmental activity. The Department of National War Services, the Printing Bureau, and the office of Jules Castonguay, Chief Registrar for Canada, have thrown all their energies into this task. Millions of cards and forms are being sent out.

VALUED AT $10,000—Mrs. Edna Ballard and her son, Donald, leaders of the "I am" cult, shown in the custody of a U.S. marshal in Los Angeles as they surrendered to answer federal charges of mail fraud. They were released on $5,000 bail each.

SMOKE SHADES CITY IN CAMDEN'S WORST FIRE—Two men were known to be dead and seven others feared lost when the worst fire in the history of Camden, N.J., turned a paint factory into a blazing inferno and destroyed 125 nearby frame dwellings. Mayor George Brunner declared the city in a state of emergency after the fire broke out at 1 p.m., with a series of terrific explosions which were felt for miles around. Fifty city employees were assigned to ride through the streets shouting, "Don't use water," and appeals were sent out to hospitals, hotels, the Red Cross and Salvation Army to aid the homeless and injured. Heavy smoke poured from the shattered buildings all night long.

Softball

Longshoremen Two Games Up

Too much power. Those three words tell the story of last night's 10 to 3 victory of the Longshoremen over Cameron Lumber in lower Island senior softball final. It marked the second straight triumph for the stevedores, leaving them within one game of the championship and the right to enter the Island final.

Longshoremen cut lose with a 16-hit barrage on a pair of Cameron's hurlers and seven runs in the first three innings left no doubt as to the final outcome. The hit parade included a home run by Lloyd Knapp, in the first inning, and two-base knocks by Knapp, Harry Holness, Burgess Berry and Ray Byers.

Camerons collected seven hits off the elongated Byers and were shut out after the third inning. Each club was responsible for three errors.

Going into bat first the Longshoremen teed off on Eddie Dempster, Cameron's starting pitcher. Holness opened the inning with a walk. Erickson beat out an infield hit. Berry forced Erickson at second and later stole second. Knapp, with two strikes on him, laced the ball into deep left centre for a home run. That ended Dempster's work for the night, Rosy McLellan going into the box.

Camerons were able to get back two of the runs in their half of the inning. Happy Milliken worked Byers for a walk and was sacrificed to second by Jim Milliken. Murray popped out. Mc Kean lined a single over short scoring Happy Milliken, and Andrews beat out a hit to short, Mc Kean crossing the plate.

THREE MORE RUNS

McLellan bumped into a carload of trouble in the second. Byers greeted him with a single to centre field. Holness hit to left field and when O'Connor kicked the ball around Byers scored and Holness finished up on third. Erickson walked and pilfered second.

Berry's clean double to centre scored Holness and Erickson.

In the third the Longshoremen sneaked another runner across the plate. McKeachie beat the ball to first on a hit to short, advanced to third on a double by Byers and scored on Holness' fly out to left field.

Cameron's got their third and final score in the third. McKean tripled to left centre and scored when Andrews was safe on Knapp's error.

In the fourth Longshoremen loaded the sacks with nobody out but McLellan tightened his belt and retired the next three batters on a couple of pop ups to the infield and a ground out.

Longshoremen made sure of their win with another three-run splurge in the ninth. Stansbury walked and advanced to third on a single by Byers. Holness followed with another hit scoring Stansbury. Byers crossed the plate on a double steal and Holness raced home on a hit by Berry.

Score by innings—

V.L.A.	3 3 1 0 0 0 0 0 3 — 10	16	3
Camer's	2 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 — 3	7	3

Batteries—Byers and Berry; Dempster, McLellan (1) and H. Milliken.

Umpires: Pick, Restell, Simpson, Gent.

Defeating H.M.C. Dockyard 11 to 4 for their second straight win last night Harknett Fuel captured the B section championship. Five runs in the fifth inning gave the champions a lead the dockyard crew could never overcome.

Score by innings—

Dockyard	0 0 1 0 0 0 2 0 1 — 4
Harknett Fuel	2 0 1 0 5 0 2 1 x — 11

Batteries: Comerford and Osman; McBride and Kennedy.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

WARREN GILES used the simplest formula for baseball success in Cincinnati.

Giles, upon being named general manager, merely went out and got what the Reds needed.

The heads of too many clubs are too prone to alibi weak spots . . . excuse them on the ground that better men are not be had.

Giles did something about them.

He took William Boyd McKechnie from the Boston Bees . . . gave the dean of National League pilots $25,000 and an incentive in the way of a $5,000 bonus based on attendance figures.

He gave the Phillies $55,000 and a couple of athletes for Bucky Walters.

Lew Riggs didn't cover a wide enough range at third base, so Giles paid the Philadelphia Athletics $25,000 for Bill Werber.

Left field, the softest position of all, is an unusual place for a championship club to be handicapped, but no less than eight failed to meet Rhineland requirements there in 1939—Lee Gamble, Stanley Bordagaray, Bud Hafey, Antonio Bonglovanni, Dick West, Al Simmons, Vince DiMaggio and Wally Berger.

Giles gave Kansas City $40,000 for the oldest of the DiMaggios. He has spent something like $125,000 for left fielders in three years.

Mike McCormick, who came up from Indianapolis, started in the position last spring, but Bill McKechnie still had doubts about the post when the Reds traded DiMaggio to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Johnny Rizzo.

Deacon McKechnie didn't like Rizzo's temperament, among other things, so off went the olive-skinned flychaser to the Phils for Morrie Arnovich.

Now Arnovich, who is capable of a very formidable batting average, should be insurance enough, especially with Mike McCormick and Gamble still around, yet Giles gave Chattanooga $30,000 and a player for big Mike Dejan, who led the Southern Association in a half dozen batting departments with .404.

Replacements have made everybody forget the Reds have had their share of injuries.

Eddie Joost was called into action at shortstop when Billy Myers twice was put out of commission. When Werber went down with a torn leg muscle, Riggs substituted at third base . . . made six hits as the Reds swept a two-game series in Chicago.

Behind the plate is Willard Hershberger, one of the finest second-string catchers in the history of the league.

Reserves helped put Cincinnati on top and are lending a hand in keeping them there . . . in compiling the greatest club record in the National League since 1919.

Patience is something Bill DeLancey learned as he spent the years since 1935, after he had been the No. 1 catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, fighting to regain his health.

He is applying that patience now in regaining the timing and rhythm of his batting swing.

"I never did count on coming back all the way this year," says DeLancey. "Four years is a long

Rowe Sparks Detroit Win

Schoolboy Rowe, who kept Detroit Tigers on top of the American League during two pennant years when he had one of the best arms in baseball, is still holding them up there.

His record of nine victories and two defeats is ample testimony that the Schoolboy is doing all right. The only pitcher in the American League with a better mark is teammate Buck Newsom, who has won 13 and lost two.

Rowe pitched seven-hit ball against New York Yankees yesterday and personally batted in three runs with a triple and a double as the Tigers clawed the world champions 11 to 2.

This was enough to give the Tigers exclusive possession, again, of first place in the junior circuit and also dropped the Yankees out of the first division by a fraction of a percentage point.

Boston Red Sox took care of clipping Cleveland out of the leadership claim with a 5 to 2 victory and Chicago White Sox nosed out Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 4 in 11 innings to get its first taste of the upper division this year.

This gave Chicago a .5164 percentage while the Yankees were .5161.

The National League action was limited to one doubleheader in which Brooklyn Dodgers cleaned up on Pittsburgh Pirates 8 to 3 and 8 to 7.

COAST LEAGUE

Some of the likeliest pitchers in class AA baseball had headaches today, a hangover from sluggers' night in the Coast League.

The stick artists clinched three of last night's games, San Diego's 14 to 1 win over Oakland, Los Angeles' 7 to 1 drubbing of the champion Seattle Rainiers, and Sacramento's 7 to 3 victory over Hollywood. In the cellar series San Francisco clipped Portland 4 to 1 for four straight.

Without going into detail about the fantastic 14 to 1 Oakland contest, in which three Oak hurlers—George Darrow, Joe Mulligan and Vern Johnson—gave away 23 hits, the major casualties were Hal Turpin of Seattle and Rugger Ardizoia of Hollywood.

Turpin, topping the circuit in games won and trying for his 19th win, ran into the twin siege guns of Los Angeles' outfielders Lou Novikoff and infielder Eddie Mayo.

Novikoff's double and two singles brought in four runs of the Angels' seven, and Mayo's triple and two singles counted for two.

Aldon Wilkie, the Rainier pitcher with the league's best average, 10 wins and one defeat, replaced Turpin in the fifth. He gave up two more tallies. The Angels' durable Ray Prim held the champions to five hits. The series ended even, 2 to 2.

Ardizoia of the Hollywood Stars leads the league in strikeouts with 114 and is being eyed by the New York Yankees. But he blew a 3 to 0 lead last night as Sacramento splurged in the eighth inning with seven runs and six hits.

Lake's double, scoring three Dick Lang's homer, and Dib Williams' double featured the Sacramento uprising.

Cubs Nine Beats Eagles in Playoff

Tillicum Cubs nipped an Eagles' rally in the ninth inning just in time to come out with an 8 to 7 victory in a replay playoff second division baseball fixture played last night at Beacon Hill. As a result of the win the Cubs took top place honors in the league schedule. Eagles were down four runs going into the last frame, but after they had bagged a trio of markers the Cubs clamped a lid on their attack to leave them one run short of tieing things up.

Humphrey Cup playdowns for the second division championship will open Tuesday, with Tillicums meeting Navy and Eagles opposing Cedar Hill. They meet in best-of-three series, with the winners opposing each other in the final.

Score by innings:

Cubs	2 4 2 0 0 — 8
Eagles	3 1 0 0 3 — 7

Batteries — Acres, Pynn and Main; Curry, Flaherty and Sparks.

PLAYS FIRST BASE — When the colored House of David ball players open their three-game series with Victoria, tonight at Athletic Park, Babe Charter, pictured above, will be holding down the initial bag. A hustling first sacker, Charter performs his fielding chores in grand style and is a dangerous hitter. Tonight's game is billed for 6, with tomorrow's fixtures scheduled for 2.30 and 6.

"Y" Stars Travel

Seek Games Honors

A strong representation from the Flying "Y" track and field team led by coach Archie McKinnon, will descend upon the 54th annual Caledonian Games at Hastings Park oval in Vancouver tomorrow in search of further honors for their 1940 record book.

The team will board the midnight boat tonight and will return home Sunday.

Those who will make the trip follow:

Bill Dale, outstanding 800-yard runner who got his start with the Flying "Y" squad and who has been performing for Washington State College the past three years, will again carry the local club's colors. He has a big day cut out with four events on the slate—the 220, 440, 880 and the mile.

JOE ADDISON

Joe Addison, "Victoria's Flying Cop," who is as equally admired as Dale for his running abilities, will be in the thick of things running the same events as his teammate.

Coach McKinnon will perhaps hold Addison out of one of the races he has entered, and Dale out of another.

Vic Dale, gifted brother of Bill who has recently joined the "Y" team, will show his stuff in the broad jump, the hop, step and jump, the high jump and the javelin throw. Big things are expected of him.

John Stewart, who made a clean sweep in the service events at the Highland gathering here last Saturday as a member of the R.C.A., will run the 100 and 220 events.

Grant Willis will perform in the 880 and mile contests. Willis is in exceptionally good condition.

Bill Clarke, powerful junior runner, is expected to place in the 100 and 220 junior events.

Bill Towill, another up-and-coming junior, will race in the same contests.

Joe Linn, hard-working member of the team who joined this season, will take part in the broad jump and hop, step and jump.

One girl member of the team, Margaret Junget, has been included. Margaret will take part in the 100 yards open and the women's broad jump.

The 880 yards relay race will be entered by a team consisting of Addison, Dale, Clarke and Stewart. Linn will be a spare.

Regular workouts have been held in preparation for the meet and all members making the trip are in excellent shape. The locals will be competing against the pick of British Columbia athletes and perhaps some United States runners.

BAYS OUT TO CUT ALERT'S MARGIN

Manager Ted Menzies' stick-wielding Bays hope to whittle the Alert Service's four-point lead to half its size this evening when they tangle with the cellar-berth Jokers' aggregation in a senior boxla duel at Willows Sports Centre.

The last time the Jokers and Bays met, the blackshirts gave the lads from across the bay a good run, only to lose out in the final phase of the struggle.

The senior game will start at 8.30, with Oak Bay No. 1 team and Essler's Coffee Shop, juvenile squads, battling in the opener at 7.

Bay's line-up follows: McKim, C. Chapman, Cullin, Clark, Ball, Mason, Bryant, R. and N. Baker, Anderson, Wallace, F. Doheny and E. McKim.

NO AUTO RACES

There will not be automobile races at Langford Speedway tomorrow night, Jack Taylor, manager, said today.

Taylor has not been able to line up enough cars. He expects to have a big list for next Saturday.

CRACK FIELD IN MILWAUKEE GOLF

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A field of 185 golfers, including most of the nation's crack amateur and professional shotmakers, teed off in the $5,000 Milwaukee open tournament for a first round assault today on par, already tottering under the impact of a score of beatings administered in the preliminary best-ball event.

Ralph (Bud) Williamson, pro of Fort Wayne, Ind., indicated the drubbing par may take in the medal play when he carded a 64, seven under regulation figures for the North Hills course, as a member of yesterday's winning pro-amateur best ball team.

Partnered with Williamson on the winning dark-horse team, Harvey Reidemann, 21, of Watertown, Wis., provided one of the day's surprises by turning in an individual count of 67 to pace a strong amateur contingent.

KNOCKOUT CRICKET FINAL TOMORROW

The final of the knockout competition sponsored by the Victoria and District Cricket Association, will be played tomorrow afternoon at Macdonald Park at 2.30, with University School Incogs and Five C's meeting.

This match should produce an excellent brand of cricket as both clubs have on their line-ups some of the city's outstanding batsmen and bowlers.

At Beacon Hill Park Albions and Victoria Cricket Club meet in a friendly match.

Five C's team follows: Quainton, G. Payne, J. Payne, Harper, Ware, Martin, Hepworth, Griffin, Edwards, Whitehead and Petch.

Campbell and Medalist Win

TACOMA (AP)—Seattle's Albert (Scotty) Campbell, youthful veteran with a flock of links conquests behind him, took two long strides in defence of his Washington State amateur championship over the Fircrest course here yesterday, disposing of Ray Harwood of Bremerton, Wash., in the morning round, 3 and 2, and making it two in a row with a 1 up triumph over Forest Watson, experienced campaigner from Seattle, in the afternoon.

The galleryites weren't paying much attention to Campbell, however—his victories were expected—but were eyeing the accomplishments of young Dick Hanen, 19-year-old University of Oregon freshman and the "glamour boy" of the tournament. The Marshfield, Ore., youngster, medalist in the qualifying round, stroked his way to victories over two low handicappers from the home course, Jack Walters, 3 and 2, and Chet Wells, 2 up, to match Campbell's pace.

Campbell will tangle with L. Paul Fioritt, a fellow townsman, and Hanen will meet Al Buhre, veteran Tacoman and member of the home club, in quarterfinals matches today.

YANKS CALL BONHAM

NEW YORK (AP)—Floundering New York Yankees made an effort to strengthen their pitching staff yesterday by bringing up righthander Ernest Bonham from Kansas City and sending veteran Oral Hildebrand to the American Association club.

Bonham, who made the spring training trip with the Yankees, has won eight and lost four for Kansas City.

WILL PLAY FOOTBALL

OTTAWA (CP) — President Sam Berger of the Ottawa Football Club announced yesterday the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union champions definitely would operate this year and that surplus profit would be turned over to some war charitable organization.

The majority of players from last season's Dominion finalists are expected to be back in the line-up.

Draw for All Events Announced

Three hundred and fifty lawn bowlers, the majority Victorians, but a good percentage from the United States, interior and coastal parts of British Columbia and up-island localities, will be on hand to take part in Victoria's 13th annual holiday tournament next week.

The entry is the largest and of finest quality in many years, Alec Playfair, secretary of the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association, under whose auspices the tourney is being held, announced in releasing the draw today. It was believed that the war would have a damaging effect on the meet this year. Officials were more than pleased with the excellent response.

The tournament, which will be played on the billiard-table-flat greens of all five local clubs, will open Monday and continue through to Saturday. It will be climaxed with a prize-giving and social in the Shrine Hall Saturday night.

The expectation is that there will be some exceptionally keen play as there are many top-notch bowlers from all around the coast circuit as well as crack local players entered. A rink has entered from San Diego, California, and there are also entries from Tacoma and Portland. On the British Columbia side rinks have been entered by Vancouver's many clubs, from Kamloops, Powell River, New Westminster, Courtenay and other island centres.

Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., will officially open the tournament Monday morning at 9 at the Victoria Club, Beacon Hill Park, by bowling the first wood. Anscomb is honorary president of the association.

A total of 38 men's rinks have entered, 74 doubles and 94 singles. In the women's section 30 rinks are entered, 57 doubles and 67 singles.

Local greens to be used are: Victoria Club, Canadian Pacific, Burnside, Victoria West and Lake Hill.

The complete draw follows:

TOWN TOPICS

The Victoria Boys' Band will meet at the Sports Centre tonight at 7.30 to play at the lacrosse game to be held there.

Bank clearings for the week ending today were $1,667,641 according to figures released by the Victoria Clearing House. Clearings for the same week of last year were $1,853,895.

Optometrists from all over the province of British Columbia, from the states of Washington and Oregon and vicinity will meet at the Hotel Vancouver in Vancouver, August 5 to 8, to attend the Northwest Congress of Optometry, to which the British Columbia Optometric Association will be hosts.

Approval was given the application of Laura Curry to convert the single family residence at 1616 Fernwood Road into a two-family home and to the request of A. V. Guest for permission to change the two-family residence at 1446 Gladstone Avenue into a three-family apartment by the zoning board of appeal at its last meeting.

Publicity will be given Victoria's attractions in a quarter page advertisement in a supplement of the Financial News, London, Mayor Andrew McGavin stated yesterday. The ad will carry condensed information on the healthful climate, moderate living costs, educational facilities, sports, water, resources of Vancouver Island and other assets. It will be accompanied by an article on British Columbia's capital by Frank Giolma.

Sergeant-Major Rex Carey, well-known Victoria boxer and athlete, was among the Canadian troops whose arrival in England was announced today. Carey was a member of the Canadian boxing team to the British Empire games in Australia in 1938 and was runner-up for the Empire light heavyweight title

Gracie's Autograph For $1 for League

Gracie Fields tonight will sign autographs for the benefit of the Navy League, under whose auspices she will appear with Anna Neagle at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

She said today if persons anxious for her signature would send a one dollar bill with the album backstage she would sign it with pleasure and hand the money over to the league.

Gracie has signed many autographs since coming to Victoria, but at Government House she had to refuse, for hundreds asked her for her signature.

At tonight's performance the league will be further assisted by the sale of candy and operation of the checkroom, those giving their services in this regard being Misses Roseanna Gillespie, Gloria Wilson, Elizabeth Ruggles Mary-Lou Ross, Galdwyn Beasley, Terese Todd, Jean Lennox, Elsie Peters, Ainley Gordon, Eleanor Heisterman, Gillian and Lorna Scott, Bunny and Jessie McDonald, Elizabeth Martin, Mrs. George Tyson, Mrs. Frederick Pease, Mrs. Goldwyn Terry, Mrs. Cyril Wightman and Mrs. J. W. Seatle.

HARTNELL APPEAL ON SEPTEMBER 9

A date for the Crown's appeal against sentence in the Peter George Hartnell case will probably be set on September 9, it was learned from the Attorney General's department today.

The appeal will go to County Court, that court having jurisdiction over the appeal from the police court where sentence of three months was passed on Hartnell under the Defence of Canada Regulations.

Notice of appeal was filed at the Courthouse yesterday.

Instead of the general meeting scheduled for Tuesday next, the Old Age Pensioners of Victoria will enjoy a picnic in Beacon Hill Park on that date. Conveyances will leave the City Hall at 2.30 and refreshments will be provided at the park.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Funeral services will be held early next week for the late Walter Hepburn. A pioneer Vancouver building contractor and alderman, he died yesterday at his North Vancouver home in his 84th year.

He was born in Bury, Ont., and came to Vancouver in 1894. He served several terms on the city council.

Well-known Sooke Resident Dies

Rosalinda Laetitia, wife of Capt. John Bowen-Colthurst of "Coolalta," Sooke, died yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, after a long illness. Funeral services will be held at Holy Trinity Church, Saseenos, by Rev. H. M. Bolton tomorrow afternoon at 2, followed by interment at Saseenos Cemetery.

Mrs. Bowen-Colthurst was born at Sevenoaks, Kent, in 1881, the youngest daughter of the late Lord Dunboyne. After the Great War she came with her husband and four children to Canada, and for 10 years they lived at Terrace, B.C., before coming 10 years ago to Sooke to make their home. Mrs. Bowen-Colthurst took a great interest in community undertakings and was a valued member of the woman's auxiliary of Holy Trinity Church, of which she was president until failing health curtailed her activities.

She is survived by her husband, three sons, St. John, in Essex, England; Theobald, a law student, of Victoria, and David, who is in a flying school in Canada; also a daughter, Dorinda, with the Church Army, in London, England. Surviving brothers are Lord Dunboyne, retired from the Royal Navy; Major-General Leslie Butler, of the Irish Guards, commanding the Devonshire Territorials; Major-General Theobald Butler, commanding Royal Artillery in Bombay, and three sisters, Mrs. Hindson, Brockenhurst, Hampshire; Mrs. Donner, Salgrave House, Oxfordshire, and Miss Blanche Butler, also of England.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the S. J. Curry and Son Funeral Home.

THOMAS — Mrs. Margaret Emily Thomas, aged 75, died yesterday at the family residence, Hobbs Road, Cadboro Bay. She was born in Carmarthen, Wales, and had resided for 12 years in Vauxhall, Alberta, coming to the Cadboro Bay district eight months ago. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. W. E. Hambleton, Cadboro Bay; Mrs. D. L. Jerrold, Vauxhall, Alta.; and Mrs. H. Hadwin, Monitor, Alta.; two sons, J. F. Thomas, Vauxhall, Alta.; and M. W. Thomas, Cadboro Bay; also six grandchildren. The funeral will leave McCall Bros. Funeral Home tomorrow afternoon for St. Luke's Church, where services will be held by Rev. F. Pike at 2. Interment in the churchyard.

ROBB—The funeral of Thomas M. Robb will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3.30, at Sands Mortuary, under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge. Canon S. Ryall will conduct the services; interment at Royal Oak.

CAMERON — Word has been received here by James Cameron, secretary of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, of the death yesterday of his father, Hugh Cameron, 88, Dunoon, Scotland. Mr. Cameron was a native of the Scottish Highlands and the oldest police pensioner in Scotland, having retired from the Argyllshire police in 1910. He served on the force as a sergeant and was for 20 years prison governor at Inverary. His widow and two sons, Hugh, in London, and James, here, survive.

PERULLET—Funeral services for Pierre Perullet will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, Rev. O. L. Jull officiating. Interment at Royal Oak.

FRASER — Hershell Maxwell Fraser, engineer at the Hillcrest Lumber Company, Duncan, died suddenly this morning, aged 46 years. He was born in Kempville, Ont., and leaves his widow and five children in Vancouver; also two brothers and one sister in Alberta. The remains will be sent to Vancouver for interment.

Salad Contest Closes Soon

With just two more days to go in the "Salad Celebrity Week" for Greater Victoria, there is a continual flow of entries for the contest sponsored by Macdonald Electric Ltd., Housewives are asked for their favorite recipe for salads, the only restriction being that it must use Vancouver Island-grown produce and call for a mayonnaise dressing.

The handsome baskets of foodstuffs, packed by the makers of the nationally-known Best Foods products, now on display in Macdonald Electric windows, will be awarded as prizes. Mrs. M. A. Foulds and Miss C. Martin, both noted home economists, have consented to act as judges. All recipes must be in the store by 5 p.m. tomorrow.

EXCELLENT RESPONSE

The response to this contest has been excellent, according to G. E. Macdonald, managing proprietor of the electric store. Women from all over the district have submitted recipes that reveal a high standard of culinary skill. Simple recipes that can be adapted to the resources of the average household will find favor with the judges.

The aim of the special week has been dual, first to educate the public in the healthful value of salads as an integral part of the summer menu and, secondly, to encourage the use of Vancouver Island-grown produce, thus expanding the markets of local farmers, with a consequent increase of prosperity for the whole community

LAW FORBIDS TOBACCO BLENDING

Confectioners and tobacconists who are in the habit of mixing up special blends of smoking tobacco and selling them in packages without a revenue stamp on them are subject to prosecution under federal laws and the first of such prosecutions took place in the City Police Court this morning.

F. B. Richardson and Ben Hall were fined $10 when they pleaded guilty to the offence charged by R.C.M. Police officers.

Constable P. E. Burroughs testified he went into the accused's shop on Yates Street and saw there nine two-ounce packages which had been up for sale without revenue stamps on them. Questioning disclosed the contents were a mixed blend of English tobaccos removed from their original shipping tins.

Formal installation of Rev. John Turner as minister of Centennial United Church has been postponed. It was to have been held this evening at 8, but this morning Mr. Turner wired from Banff that he had been delayed on his journey and would be unable to reach the city until tomorrow afternoon.

U.S. TRAINING FOR OVER 900,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Shortly after President Roosevelt had said to reporters, "I am distinctly in favor of the selective service training bill and I consider it essential to adequate national defence," the United States Senate military committee rejected today a proposal to limit compulsory service at this time to 900,000 men.

The committee voted down, 7 to 2, an amendment to the Burke-Wadsworth bill, offered by Senator Lee (Democrat, Oklahoma), which would have limited the number of men to be drafted between Oct. 1 next and April 1, 1941, to 400,000 and between April 1 and Oct. 1, 1941, to 500,000.

This action and rejection of an amendment by Lee for a 90-day period of voluntary enlistments seemed to have cleared the way for a final committee vote on the legislation next Monday.

Medical Supplies Sent Into China

DEFENCE OF CANADA REGULATIONS

Prohibition of Photography of Specified Places in the Victoria-Esquimalt, B.C., Area

ORDER

Under and by virtue of Regulation No. 18, Defence of Canada Regulations, I, the undersigned Minister of National Defence being a competent authority for the purposes of said Regulation, do hereby order that no photograph, sketch, plan or other representation shall be made of any of the places or areas hereunder specified, or of any part thereof, or of any object therein, except under the authority of a written permit granted by the District Officer Commanding Military District No. 11, Victoria, B.C., acting on my behalf.

(1) Esquimalt Harbor, Upper and Lower Victoria Harbor, the shore line faces of banks or cliffs of Southern Vancouver Island contiguous and adjacent thereto, and extending from SHERINGHAM POINT on the South-west coast to, and including, Sidney Island, James Island, Coal Island and Piers Island.

(2) The shore line and area in the immediate vicinity of Sooke Lake and Goldstream Lake situated north-west of the City of Victoria.

(3) The properties of all government wireless stations on Vancouver Island.

(4) The Royal Canadian Air Force Station and Airport at Patricia Bay situated in the Saanich Peninsula, Vancouver Island.

And I do further order that any photographs, sketches, plans or other representations made under the authority of a written permit granted by the said District Officer Commanding, Military District No. 11, shall not be published unless and until they have been submitted to and approved by the said District Officer Commanding, who, acting on my behalf, may give such special directions as he thinks necessary for securing that any such photographs, sketches, plans or other representations shall not be published unless and until they have been so submitted and approved by him.

DATED AT OTTAWA, ONTARIO, this 13th day of July, 1940.

(Sgd.) J. L. RALSTON,
Minister of National Defence.

In case of breach of this Order, penalties are provided under the Defence of Canada Regulations.

'FLORIAN' ON DOMINION BILL

Tracing the fall of the Austrian Empire as the background for the love story of a boy, a girl and a horse, "Florian," spectacular film-ization of the novel by Felix Salten, is the attraction now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

The story starts with Austria at its most opulent period and proceeds to the World War, revolution and fall of the Hapsburg dynasty and their effects on a pair of lovers and a magnificent Lippizan stallion, property of Emperor Franz Josef.

Robert Young, who triumphed in "Northwest Pasage," adds another notable role to his list, and Helen Gilbert is persuasively dramatic as the duchess. Irina Baronova, chief dancer of the Ballet Russe, is exotic and compelling as the fiery sweetheart of an archduke, enacted by Lee Bowman.

'Torrid Zone' At Capitol Tomorrow

James Cagney, Ann Sheridan and Pat O'Brien are the triple-threat star trio heading the cast of the Capitol Theatre's next attraction, "Torrid Zone," which is scheduled to open tomorrow. Directed by William Keighley, "Torrid Zone" is an exciting comedy drama, set against the exotic tropical background of the South American banana country.

Cagney and O'Brien are cast as the hard-boiled plantation bosses for a big fruit company and Miss Sheridan as an American torch singer goes to the "torrid zone" to cash in on her talents as a singer and card sharp. Also featured in the film are gravel-voiced Andy Devine, Helen Vinson, Jerome Cowan, George Tobias and many others. "Torrid Zone" is an original screen play by Richard Macaulay and Jerry Wald.

Canadian Census On June 2, 1941

OTTAWA (CP)—A national census will be taken June 2, 1941, Trade Minister MacKinnon announced in a press statement today. It will be the eighth decennial tabulation of Canadians.

Special attention will be paid to obtaining statistics on basic industries of the country.

Draft forms designed to obtain the fullest and most accurate information on agriculture, went out today to leading authorities for their approval.

Information will be sought covering the whole field of the industry. Abandoned or idle farms will be canvassed as well as agricultural production on plots which do not come within the definition of "farm."

A separate schedule will be used for each farm listing products, whether fruits and vegetables are produced for sale, and general details concerning operations.

PLAZA THEATRE

"Heavies" are more important to a movie plot than heroes.

That is the opinion of Leon Ames, who plays a gangster in "Strange Faces," Universal comedy co-starring Dorothea Kent and Frank Jenks, now playing at the Plaza Theatre.

A former stage and screen leading man, Ames recently switched to heavy roles. Now he is content to remain a movie villain, because he believes they are more important "plot" characters than the leads.

ATLAS THEATRE

Combining all the action and thrills of the best Westerns with the uniquely picturesque background of Death Valley and three sterling performances by those veterans, Wallace Beery, Leo Carrillo and Marjorie Rambeau, "20 Mule Team" emerges as one of the most thoroughly entertaining pictures of the year. It is now being shown at the Atlas Theatre.

RIO THEATRE

Hal Taliaferro, character player appearing in Republic's "Saga of Death Valley," current at the Rio Theatre, owes his film career to Mary Roberts Rhinehart. The famous authoress, vacationing on the ranch where Taliaferro was born and raised, wrote a series of stories around Hal and his brothers. When the stories were brought to the screen, Hal went along with them to play, in person, the roles which he had inspired.

Robot Plane to Attack Bombers

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for a flying bumblebee, a tiny robot airplane of a new type for defence against bombers, were announced yesterday by Edward F. Chandler, well-known marine engineer.

The bumblebee plane would steer itself automatically by the sound of the attacking bomber and then buzz along with it, dropping sound-directed bombs on its victim.

This is not a clever idea. For Mr. Chandler is a recognized expert in automatic steering controls for torpedoes, aircraft and marine vessels. In the first great war he was distinguished as the inventor of a gyroscopic control system for accurately aiming submarine torpedoes. He assisted in developing the Swedish navy's sound-controlled torpedo.

The bumblebee design calls for a plane which would be launched by the fire control officers at a bombing defence station. When the course of a flight of attacking bombers had been charted with fair certainty, and while the planes were still some miles distant, these officers would launch some of the flying bumblebees.

The automatic gyroscopes already in use on planes would keep these little robots on the course fixed to intercept the bombers until they were well within the range of the noise of the big ships.

FLYING TORPEDOES

At that point a sound control device would take over the steering and guide the little ships to the invaders. The bumblebees, however, would not strike these ships, as is planned for the flying torpedoes about which much has been written recently.

The reason, Mr. Chandler said, is that no more than one hit in a thousand is likely for a flying torpedo with present available sound steering controls. There is, he explained, a lag of a fraction of a second at least in these controls. This lag, at the high speed of airplanes, would permit a human flown ship, under attack to avoid its robot enemy.

Mr. Chandler plans a set of four sound controls which should lead his bumblebees to wheel into line above a bomber and slightly ahead of it. The controls would also tend to keep the little bee at a predetermined distance above the ship it pestered.

Either the sound waves from the bomber or certain normal electro-magnetic radiations from the big ship could be used to trip from time to time an automatic bomb release in the bumblebee. These bombs, Mr. Chandler said, need not necessarily have to make a direct hit to explode. They could carry devices which would explode them whenever they reached an effective distance from the bomber. These detonating devices would be set off by sound waves or normal radiations from the large ship.

Canoe Upsets

Miss Ruby Jensen, a visitor from Calgary, was none the worse for an impromptu ducking in the Gorge yesterday when the canoe in which she was paddling capsized.

A strong swimmer, Miss Jensen swam to the nearby shore, later hailing rescuers from Rodd Brothers on the other side of the Gorge.

Far-north Flight

EDMONTON (CP) — Pilot Alf Caywood of Canadian Airways hopped off from here yesterday on a flight that will take him to the farthest north point ever reached by an Edmonton plane, and a spot never before touched by any other plane.

He is bound for the northernmost cape of Victoria Island, more than 2,000 miles northeast of Edmonton, in the Arctic Ocean, to pick up Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Washburn, Harvard University graduates, who are doing research work on glaciation in the Far North.

Scrap Cargoes Beat Deadline

PORTLAND (AP)—Two scrap iron cargoes, aboard the American Kentucky and the Panamanian San Rafael, were en route to Japan today.

Cargoes of both vessels were cleared Wednesday night before the ban on scrap iron, included in the ruling preventing export from the United States of certain materials without license, became effective at midnight.

Customs guards remained on the dock to prevent loading No. 1 scrap.

The Japanese steamer Nanman Maru took on scrap until a late hour. The rest of its cargo space will be filled with lumber before leaving for the Orient Monday.

The American Mail Line freighter West Cusseta sailed for Japan with steel rails and tank plates.

The San Rafael was manned by 40 Chinese who arrived Wednesday. The ship was recently sold to Wallem & Co., Shanghai, by the Pacific-Atlantic Steamship Company.

Capt. Thomas Gets Command of Japan

Succeeding Capt. L. D. Douglas, whose retirement from the sea was announced this week, Capt. John W. Thomas, for four years associated with the liner as staff captain, has been appointed to the command of the C.P.R. trans - Pacific flagship Empress of Japan.

Capt. Thomas, a Newfoundlander, joined the Canadian Pacific in 1916 as fourth officer of the Missanabie, and the following year became third officer of the Grampian.

In 1918 he obtained his mate's certificate and the same year completed a course in naval gunnery. He then became second officer of the Monmouth and in 1920 joined the Empress of Australia as third officer. His next ship was the Mattawa.

Capt. Thomas joined the trans-Pacific Empress fleet as fourth officer aboard the Empress of Japan in 1921. He later served aboard the Empress of Asia, Empress of Canada and Empress of Russia, being made staff captain of the Empress of Japan in 1936.

Hikawa Maru Arrives

Getting prompt dispatch at quarantine, N.Y.K. liner M.S. Hikawa Maru, inbound from Japan, passed up for Vancouver at 7 this morning.

The Japanese ship had full passenger accommodations, there being a total of 242 aboard, 63 for Vancouver and 179 for Seattle.

After discharging 828 tons of cargo at Vancouver the Hikawa wil shift to Seattle.

WHEAT EXPORTS UP

OTTAWA (CP)—Overseas export clearances of wheat from Canada the week ended July 26 amounted to 2,928,216 bushels compared with 1,616,680 the corresponding week last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Canadian wheat in store in Canada totalled 281,358,422 bushels compared with 282,118,158 the previous week and 95,849,521 last year, and in the United States 25,222,850 bushels compared with 25,672,988 and 6,567,000.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP) — Late reports of the purchase of 100,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat by the British Ministry of Food failed to rouse the Winnipeg Grain Exchange from its lethargy today as prices closed at their pegged levels of 73⅝ for October futures and 74⅝ for December futures. December wheat had failed to open in a dull session.

Irish importers were reported inquiring for supplies to be handled through New York, but no trades were recorded. Some buying was attributed to American mills, but volume was very small

Wheat at Buenos Aires was ⅜ lower at noon, and on the Chicago market it was ½ to ⅞ lower

Cash wheat trading was thin

In the coarse grain market oats and barley were inclined to higher levels, rye eased and flax was entirely neglected.

CHICAGO (AP) —Wheat and corn prices turned lower today but most of the selling was attributed to commercial transactions. Corn fell almost two cents.

Contracts not deliverable until late this year or in May next year showed most weakness. Some hedging of wheat was in evidence and some sales of corn were based on reports of improved weather conditions but traders also watched price movements of other commodities, particularly the lows registered in sugar and coffee futures.

Wheat closed ¼ to 1⅛ cents lower than yesterday, September 75½ to 75⅝, December 76 to 76⅛; corn 1 to 1¾ down, September 60⅝ to 60½, December 56⅞; oats ⅛ to ¾ down.

Ex-French Leaders On Trial Aug. 8

VICHY, France (AP)—Military leaders, former government members and others charged with responsibility for France's defeat, will go on trial at Riom August 8 before a supreme court constituted by the Petain regime.

The names of those to face charges were not disclosed officially.

Former Premiers Edouard Daladier and Paul Reynaud, Gen. Maurice Gamelin and Georges Mandel, former minister of the interior, frequently have been attacked in the controlled press in connection with the forthcoming trials.

In certain cases it is expected charges of plotting against the state will be brought.

The setting of the date for the start of the trials was announced by Raphael Alibert, minister of justice in the Petain government.

It was announced the new court, headed by President Chaours, will consist of the following: Vice-President Lagarde, who now is counsellor of the court of cassation (supreme court); Admiral Herr, Louis-Jacques Tanon, also counsellor of the court of cassation at present; General Watteau, Georges Ripert and Jean Benoist.

IN ABSENTIA

CLERMONT - FERRAND, France (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, the French officer who heads a provisional French committee in London to carry on the fight against Germany, was condemned to death by a military court which tried him in absentia.

Charges of treason, attacks on the security of the state and desertion to a foreign country in time of war were laid before the military court of the 13th region presided over by Gen. Frere.

Gen. de Gaulle is in London. He sprang into prominence when Premier Paul Reynaud dismissed Gen. Gamelin and reorganized the high command.

Fireworks Ban

LONDON (CP)—Under a new order in Defence Regulations private persons may not possess any fireworks such as rockets, roman candles or other devices that might be used as signals to the enemy.

Steels, Motors Recover

NEW YORK (AP) — Recovery steps were taken by steels and motors in today's stock market, but many other leaders were hesitant on the follow-up.

The list was a bit ragged at the start. A little bidding appeared around midday and lifted selected issues fractions to a point or so.

Negligible dealings throughout tended to lessen importance of price changes either way. Transfers approximated 300,000 shares.

Shares given a lift at one time or another were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, International Paper Common and Preferred, International Nickel, Montgomery Ward, Union Bag & Paper, Du Pont, Westinghouse and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Lacking the rallying urge were Texas Corp., Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Douglas Aircraft, Great Northern and American Telephone.

HE'LL KNOW YOU BETTER— Major-General L. R. LaFleche, who, after criticism, was removed finally from post of deputy minister of national defence, returned to Canada July 31, in a boat full of war guests, to help make the registration. A job was made for him as Canadian military attache in Paris until the capitulation of France. He now has landed feet down in another nice job to assist Mr. Justice Davis in compiling the register of Canada's man and woman-power.

PRICES STEADIER

MONTREAL (CP)—The stock market was steady to a shade higher in quiet late trade today.

In newsprints, Bathhurst gained a small sum while Price Brothers was even.

Mines were quiet on the curb as Home Oil advanced a few cents.

BELL UP A POINT

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto stock market was lifeless today. Gold shares held narrowly to the up side while other groups recorded minor price declines.

An advance of 2 points for Canada Packers to 82 and a one-point rise by Bell Telephone to 149, were the best gains in the other groups.

Three of the secondary golds, Kerr-Addison, East Malartic and MacLeod-Cockshutt traded at narrowly higher prices and gains of 10 to 20 cents were netted by Bralorne, Macassa and Sigma.

Calgary Oils

CALGARY (CP)—For the second day in succession, only one stock showed any action on Calgary Stock Exchange today. Yesterday it was Okalta; today it is Grease Creek, with a turnover of 500 shares at 4 cents, unchanged from the previous close.

GOVERNMENT DEPOSITS UP

OTTAWA (CP)—Dominion government deposits with the Bank of Canada increased $5,490,000 the week ended July 31 and notes in circulation $4,095,000, it was shown today in the bank's weekly statement. Chartered bank deposits decreased $641,000.

Vessels' Fate Unknown

NEW YORK (AP)—The fate of two vessels was shrouded today in the obscurity of sea warfare off the British Isles.

An unidentified steamship was reported torpedoed last night about 450 miles west of the northern tip of Ireland in a message relayed to MacKay Radio by the U.S. vessel Salgic.

The SOS message received by the Algic was signed "Odxa," apparently the call letters of the ship, but MacKay said no such letters were recorded and that the message probably had been garbled.

Lloyd's registry lists no ship so named.

The scene of the reported torpedoing, latitude 55.09 north, longitude 17.13 west, was about 300 miles northeast of the spot from where the British steamship Thesus sent a distress signal saying she was attacked by a German submarine earlier yesterday.

BRALORNE UP 10

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prices took an upward swing during the forenoon session on Vancouver Stock Exchange today although few changes were registered. Trading picked up slightly as transfers totaled 10,660 shares.

Bralorne Gold recorded the largest gain when it rose 10 to 8.40. Relief Arlington gained a fraction to 6½ while Cariboo Gold Quartz at 2.00 and Sheep Creek at 85 remained unchanged.

In the oils Calgary and Edmonton advanced 3 to 1.36 and Home was up 2 at 1.62. Extension finished fractionally higher at 20 while Okalta was unchanged at 71. Other oils and base metals were inactive.

Pilot in Sinking Plane Saved Himself

From time to time, I think about the future of the flying art. In less than half a century, inventors and mechanical engineers have done wonders in bringing about mastery of the air, but a great deal is left to do.

Air lines have been opened across the Atlantic and across the Pacific. We can get from one side to the other in about one-fourth the time taken by a fast modern steamer going over the same route.

He kicked himself free.

The ocean airlines might make faster flights, but they are not trying for speed records. They want safety for the passengers, and to date there has been little misfortune.

As time goes on, there is no doubt that both speed and safety will be increased. You and I probably will live long enough to see flights across the Atlantic in less than eight hours.

Seaplanes, or flying boats, are being used to transport passengers. In case of a forced landing on the water, the passengers are much more likely to be saved than if they were in a land plane.

To this date, seaplanes have not been made in such a way that they could not be wrecked if forced down in a rough sea. I expect that sooner or later inventors will produce a plane which is proof against any such accident.

In my mind is an airplane with a sealed-in cabin, with the strongest of walls. If made with the greatest strength, I think such a cabin could stand the shock of striking the water after falling hundreds of feet during the worst storm. It might be so built that it could sink clear under water, then rise again, bobbing up like a cork.

Although seaplanes are best able to meet forced landings on the ocean, quite a number of aviators have lived after striking the water while aboard land planes. Among these is Lieut. Edgar Ryder of the Royal Air Force.

Ryder was aboard a Spitfire fighting plane when he fought a battle with a Heinkel bomber. Both planes crashed into the sea.

Ryder found himself trapped in the cockpit of his plane, something like 30 feet below the surface. For a moment, he thought he could not save himself, but he leaped through an opening in the cockpit and rose to the surface. In a few minutes he was picked up by a trawler.

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, August 3

Adverse aspects are strong today, which is favorable to beginnings of many sorts. Preliminary work is well directed. Under this planetary government it is wise to face facts and then to indulge in recreation that will be refreshing.

Women are fairly fortunate under this direction of the stars. It is an auspicious date for hospitalities, especially for those in which the young are interested. Romance flourishes mildly, but positively under this direction of the stars which enables the head to guide the heart.

Highly-trained refugees will find employment in many technical vocations. Large-scale housing projects will be advocated as demand for homes increases in the early autumn. Economists now will offer panaceas for the ills of the world.

Radio discussions of public affairs will reveal the depth of patriotism, which wisely realises that sacrifice is the necessary price of freedom and prosperity in maintaining the ideals of democracy.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of much good fortune in the coming year. They should be cautious, however, in all their business affairs. Legal papers may deceive.

Children born on this day probably will be determined in character, inclined to domineering ways and able to lead others. They are likely to be successful all through life.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

Answer: Whistling swan.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—How can a girl who has been a man's mistress for some time make him marry her? He says he doesn't love me and doesn't want me to love him, but I do. I want him more than anything in the world. How can I make him want me? Just when I think he is weakening and maybe I'll get him, something intervenes and it doesn't happen. He is good to me, but that isn't enough. I want a home and children. Now don't bawl me out for having loose morals. It is just that I am modern and have a different opinion of right and wrong from you old-fashioned folks. What I want to know is how can I get my man? BEWILDERED.

Answer: Well, Bewildered, the fact that you are what you call "modern" hasn't changed the working out of the law of cause and effect, nor has it altered human nature, so the chances of your inducing your lover to marry you are a poor gambling risk.

Of course, men do marry their mistresses, but not very often because, for one thing, if a man loved a woman in the right sort of way he would marry her in the first place. He would want his wife to have clean skirts, not bedraggled ones. Then the man who is not married is free to break up the love nest when he pleases. And, probably the most important of all, is that in these days when just as much business is conducted in drawing-rooms as in offices, a wife with a past is a distinct handicap to a man.

So you see that it is not likely that the man who didn't love you in the first place nor respect you enough to want you for a wife will desire you now. What you scorn as right living in a girl is not only a matter of morality, it is good business. Men want most what they have not had. The institution of marriage is founded on that simple fact, and the girls who break that down are destroying themselves.

Emery Zimmerman New Golf Champ

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Emery Zimmerman, Portland professional, won the Washington State open golf championship yesterday as the usually reliable putter of United States amateur champion Maxwin (Bud) Ward of Spokane failed him in the clutches in an 18-hole title playoff over the Fircrest course.

Zimmerman, who helped cinch the championship with two perfect chip shots on the 15th and 16th holes, scored a two under par 69. Ward, who conceded a six-foot birdie putt on the 18th, had a 70.

Adanacs Move Into Boxla Leadership

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — New Westminster Adanacs, Canadian champions, took over first place in the Intercity Box Lacrosse league last night from Vancouver Burrards, by scoring a 22 to 8 victory over Richmond Farmers in a match here.

Adanacs' triumph gives them 27 points, one more than Burrards, and leaves Farmers in third spot with 24 points.

Adanacs grabbed a 4 to 1 lead in the first quarter last night and by half-time were ahead 11 to 4. They added seven goals in the third, while Richmond netted three and outscored the losers 4 to 1 in the final canto.

Harry "Punk" Kennedy topped Adanac scorers with four goals and one assist, while Bert Robinson was top man for Richmond with four goals.

Future Grain Market

Canada's Wheat Stock May Help in Famine

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's present record wheat supply may provide a serious domestic emergency at the moment from the standpoint of storage and financing, but the Dominion government is definitely not worried over its ultimate disposal.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner made that clear as he defended the government's wheat policy in a debate that started yesterday morning. Adjournment came a half hour after midnight with the Commons set to complete the bill amending the Wheat Board Act later today if possible.

The record, said the minister during consideration of second reading of the measure, showed that surpluses from periods of big crops had been balanced by shortages in periods of small crops, as far as human requirements were concerned.

Added to that now was the inevitable need of millions of war-stricken people in Europe who would be short of food within a year. Conservatives, including party leader Hanson, joined the government in this specific belief.

YEARS OF REBUILDING

"When the war comes to an end Europe will be starving, its agricultural life destroyed and requiring years to rebuild," said Resources Minister Crerar. "I am not worried about the sale of wheat which may be available in Canada at that time. Canada may then be able to render a great humanitarian service to Europe."

Challenged on the quantity of sales to Britain last autumn after his trip overseas, Mr. Crerar said Britain had difficulty finding exchange and shipping. He advised western farmers that by applying common sense and sound co-operative methods, they could do any business they wished far better than the government could do it for them.

PRESENT TASK

Throughout the day-long debate yesterday members made it plain their chief concern was what to do right now with the record mass of wheat on hand—how much to pay the farmer for it, when to pay for it, where to store it. Significantly there was virtually no discussion about where to sell it, Britain being the only remaining market.

The wheat processing tax of 15 cents a bushel was generally denounced from opposition ranks. There should be no such tax at all or it should be heavy enough to increase the price to the producer, it was argued.

Trade Minister MacKinnon said the government was trying to work out means for paying the farmers advances on crops stored on the farms. Practically every speaker who followed him, from the Conservative leader on, insisted some definite plan should be announced at once.

Mr. Hanson, pleading he was no authority on the subject, covered all the angles in a two-hour address which drew as hearty applause from the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and New Democracy groups as from his own followers.

WINNIPEG EXCHANGE

On the question of closing the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Rev. T. C. Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., contended the government had to "choose between looking after the interests of 200 or 300 brokers and looking after the interests of 300,000 western Canada farmers."

Instead of a 15-cent processing tax, he urged a 50-cent tax.

Parliament Completes Job Insurance Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons without division concurred today in amendments made by the Senate to the unemployment insurance bill. The measure is now ready to receive royal assent.

Royal assent will be given just before prorogation.

Organization of the machinery to be set up under the act may then be proceeded with, but the act provides that no contributions to be paid by employers and workers shall be made until due notice has been published in the Canada Gazette.

HOSPITAL EXEMPTION

Labor Minister McLarty, in moving concurrence, said the only amendment of importance was that which removed from the operation of the scheme certain hospital employees and those in other charitable institutions which, in the opinion of the advisory committee to be set up under the act, are not operated for gain.

The amendment was greeted with applause by Conservative members, who had pressed for the same revision in the Commons. The minister said the number of workers affected by the amendment was small.

The Upper House yesterday finished its consideration of the measure, which will provide unemployment insurance for more than 2,000,000 workers in Canada.

NO POSTPONEMENT

Without a division the Senate approved the bill after voting down, 43 to 26, an amendment proposed by Conservative Leader Meighen which would have postponed operation of the act until after the war.

The bill has been boosted by its proponents as being strictly an insurance scheme, based on the establishment of a fund to which workers, employers and the government would contribute in the proportions of four, four and two, respectively.

It presupposes a rate of unemployment of 12½ per cent.

Contributions under the act will be compulsory. They are graded so that workers in low income brackets will pay less than employers, while in the higher brackets the employers will pay less than workers.

For example, a worker earning $5.40 but less than $7.50 a week will pay 12 cents into the fund and his employer 21 cents.

On the other hand, a man earning the maximum of $38.50 a week or $2,000 a year, will pay 36 cents and his employer 27 cents. Those earning more than $2,000 a year do not come under the provisions of the act, nor does it apply to those under 16 years of age.

STAMPS SYSTEM

A plan for bookkeeping on contributions provides for the issuance of special insurance stamps, these to be affixed to cards or books and kept as a record of employee's contributions. Other methods of payment into the fund may be used, such as the depositing of a certified cheque with a bank.

The plan is expected to raise betwen $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 a month which, under control of the government, might be used for the purchase of government bonds, thus assisting in the war effort.

The amount of daily or weekly benefit under the bill is 34 times the average daily or weekly contribution for the person without dependents. For the persons with dependents the benefit is 40 times the contribution.

The measure provides for the appointment of an unemployment commission, together with an advisory commission. Among the duties of the commission will be the organization of a national employment service. This service will be empowered to grant loans to workers traveling to places where work is to be found.

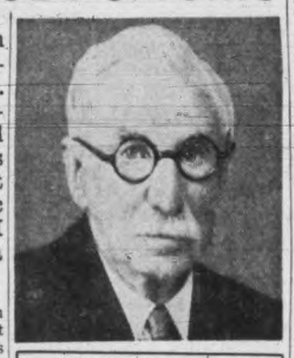
ATTACKS OF RHEUMATIC PAIN 5 YEARS BEFORE HE GOT MOSBY'S TONIC

"I Was in Distress With Almost Continual Suffering," States Mr. Ford, 80-year-old Vancouver Citizen. "And My Stomach Was Gassy and Bloated. But Now Mosby's Tonic Has Relieved Me. I Gladly Endorse Such a Splendid Medicine"



"Two Bottles of MOSBY'S TONIC Relieved the Suffering I Had Been Enduring for Years. It Turned Out to Be What I Had Needed for a Long Time," Says MR. SAMUEL FORD of 926 Cotton Drive, Vancouver. Read His Sincere Statement.

Mr. Samuel Ford of 926 Cotton Drive, Vancouver, is the latest widely-known resident of this vicinity to come forward with his Public Endorsement of this "New, Scientific Medicine," known as MOSBY'S TONIC, which is now being introduced to crowds daily here in Victoria at The Cunningham Drug Store, Fort and Douglas Streets. Mr. Ford's statement about Mosby's Tonic is Truly Worth Reading. This man is 80 years of age and is a member of Sussex Fellowship and is widely acquainted here. His Sincere Testimonial follows:

Tells of Five Years of Painful Suffering

"About five years ago I injured myself and since that time I have had almost continual rheumatic pains," said Mr. Ford. "These rheumatic pains were worst in my hands. The joints of my fingers had gotten to be almost rigid, in fact, I could hardly move them. Aside from this rheumatic affliction, I had a very bad case of stomach indigestion and gas bloating. My stomach would be so bloated with gas after meals that I could hardly stand it. The gas pains seemed to extend from the pit of my stomach way up to my chest and throat. This made my breathing difficult, and my suffering would extend way into the night so that I couldn't get my proper sleep. I tell you, I certainly had my share of distress, and finally I was almost worn out completely.

Two Bottles of Mosby's Tonic Brought Relief

"Recently I read in the paper about Mosby's Tonic and how it had already helped thousands of people, so I got this medicine and started taking it, and I want to say that two bottles of Mosby's Tonic have given me the first real relief I ever had from my suffering during the last five years. This medicine turned out to be just what I had always been needing. It relieved my sour, gassy, bloated stomach and now I can eat my meals and enjoy them and not suffer afterward with gas pains and gassy swelling like I did before. But the best thing of all is the way this medicine drove the poisons from my system and relieved that rheumatic suffering I had been enduring so long. I can move my fingers now and use my hands for the first time in YEARS. I eat and sleep better now and feel stronger, and I can truthfully say that this is the finest medicine of the kind I EVER FOUND. I gladly endorse Mosby's Tonic and hope what I have to say will help many others."

Over 100,000 Bottles Sold in One Year

SUFFERERS! All you people who are in distress, as described above. Bear this in mind, that is, Over 100,000 bottles of Mosby's Tonic have been sold in the short period of one year. So don't hesitate. Get this Splendid Medicine — TODAY — and start taking it!

A Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as the MOSBY TONIC Man, is now at the CUNNINGHAM DRUG STORE, Fort and Douglas Sts., Victoria, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this New Compound.
